

FIVE MILLION
ARMY IS GOAL OF MUSSOLINI

Strong Navy and Huge Air Force Are Two Other Objectives, He Tells Deputies.

BACHELORS FACE
HEAVY TAXATION

Money Must Be Used in Establishing New Institutions for Maternity and Infancy Cases.

Rome, May 26.—(AP)—Italy will be able finally to make her voice heard and to see her rights recognized at some time between 1935 and 1940, when she will have a strong navy, a huge air force and will be able to mobilize a well-equipped army of 5,000,000 men, was the pronouncement made by Premier Mussolini in the chamber of deputies today. He was speaking on the budget of internal affairs.

In his two and a half hours' contact with facts and figures, Mussolini stated for the first time in the history of the regime the definite goal at which he had been aiming in the revolutionary transformation that has been going on for five years.

Under the eyes of his brother, Arnaldo and his daughter, Edla, seated in the diplomatic balcony, the premier soared to heights of oratory he has seldom reached since the early belligerent days of the fascist regime's existence.

Runs Gamut of Emotions.

Mussolini's voice rose alternately from a whisper to a pitch of triumph. He waved his hands, crossed them on his chest, swung them in eloquent Italian gesticulation, pressed them tightly on the railing in front of him, and put them on his hips. His face as mobile as a movie actor, he ran the gamut of emotions, sneering, threatening, grimacing and moulding his features into stern solemnity by turns.

Often he fixed his tie or drew his hand over his face, which was somewhat pale and drawn.

His audience responded to him. The black-shirted deputies again and again cheered and roared, "Good!" "Our duke!"

Between the years mentioned, Italy, declared the premier, must be fully prepared in a military sense for any critical point in European history, and by 1950 the nation must have a population of 60,000,000. Italy's population now is something more than 42,000,000.

Successor Not Born.

Five years ago I thought that after five years I would have finished the major part of my work," he declared. "Now I see I have not. I am convinced that, despite the gradual creation of a directing class, despite the discipline of the people, I must assume the task of governing the Italian people for 10 or 15 years more, if necessary—not because I am just full of power, but because it is my precise duty."

Breaking through the applause, he added dryly: "My successor is not born yet."

Three great tasks lie immediately ahead, according to Mussolini—perfecting the military forces, reform of the constitutional machinery and continuation of the struggle for economic financial rehabilitation.

ARMY OF 5,000,000
GOAL OF MUSSOLINI

Rome, May 26.—(United News)—An army of 5,000,000 men, mobile and in full wartime efficiency, must be maintained by Italy, Premier Mussolini declared Thursday in a striking speech before the chamber of deputies, a speech which he said would be the last he would need to make during the year, covering every phase of the internal situation.

He told of 1,200 new institutions caring for maternity and infancy cases being opened, but declared the number insufficient and promised more forthwith.

"They will be financed from the revenues from the tax on bachelors," he declared.

The bachelor tax, he promised, would yield 50,000,000 lire annually. The birth rate must increase, he said, and the bachelor tax naturally will be devoted to the care of infants and mothers.

"Italy should have a population of at least 60,000,000 within the next half century if she wishes to count for something in the world," said Mussolini.

ADVERTISING IN THE CONSTITUTION PAYS THE AD-
VERTISER AND SAVES THE BUYER

No mere catch phrase this, but a solid truth based upon over half a century of ripe experience in filling the needs of Atlanta, Georgia and southern people.

Advertising in The Constitution pays the advertiser because The Constitution carries the message of commercial quality and dependability into more Atlanta and suburban homes than any other local newspaper, and blankets the entire southeast with its tremendous circulation.

Advertising in The Constitution saves the buyer because The Constitution is looked upon as the most discriminate, accurate and reliable medium for reputable advertisers in the southeast.

From every angle, advertising in The Constitution pays.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD
TO ESCAPE TRIAL
IN VIRGINIA COURT

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Because Deputy Motor Vehicle Commissioner McDermott does not want to "get mixed up in the matter any further," Oscar W. Underwood, former senator from Alabama, apparently is not to be served with the warrant issued against him by a Virginia justice, charging him with violating the motor laws of that state through use of District of Columbia motor tags, while residing near Mount Vernon.

Mr. Underwood, too, has indicated a willingness to capitulate. If the Virginia authorities will feel any better by his getting Virginia license tags, he said today, he will get them.

MARIE PREVOST
READY TO QUIT
KENNETH HARLAN

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Hollywood, Calif., May 26.—Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan are no longer the film company's happiest married couple.

Miss Prevost today affirmed that she separated from her husband last week, and moved from the couple's Beverly Hills home to a hotel. She declined to predict when she would start action to legalize the separation.

"We just found we couldn't get along," the actress said. "It would be foolish of me to say a lot about it. Mr. Harlan remained at our home; I came down here. I can say nothing further at this time."

Both Miss Prevost and Kenneth Harlan are in the front rank of film stars.

ACTRESS ADMITS
WEDDING YEAR AGO
TO SON OF BANKER

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, May 26.—Miss Vivienne Osborne, well-known Broadway actress, today confirmed a rumor that she was married to Francis Worthington Hine, prominent in society, at the same time she denied a report that she was estranged from her husband.

The marriage took place a year ago but was kept a secret. Even intimate friends of the couple did not know of it.

Hine is the son of Francis L. Hine, director, and chairman of the executive committee of the First National bank. He is a graduate of Yale university and was wounded while fighting in the world war.

Miss Osborne said today that since the death of his mother three weeks ago her husband had been living with his father to comfort him, but that he would soon be back with her.

Earth Vibrates for Miles Around When Great Gas Pocket Explodes Near Sanford, Texas.

CITIZENS REMOVE FRAME BUILDINGS

Structures Are Hauled From Danger Zone on Skids; Women and Children Terror Stricken.

Sanford, Texas, May 26.—(AP)—A roaring pillar of flame tonight stood guard over a million cubic foot gas well which exploded here today and killed four, injured seven and put two others on the list of missing, to be accounted for definitely only when the fire is extinguished.

Only one man tonight had entered the burning well crater. He was "Tex" Thornton, a well shooter for a torpedo company, who is widely known through the oil belt.

Pushes Into Furnace.

In a fireproof suit, Thornton pushed through the furnace of fusing earth and peered into a hole he found forming about the bore of the well. He saw no bodies, but if there were any they had fallen into the hole, he reported.

Meanwhile the little oil town was frantically removing its frame buildings from the vicinity of the blaze. Teams and tractors dragged some away on skids, while the scanty water supply was played over others in the hope of preventing their catching fire. The dead and wounded already had been removed and every effort was bent on saving the well and recovering the missing.

The dead were Jack Daniel, E. L. Stillwagon, Elmer Richards and Eddie Evans.

The seriously injured were Elmer Richards, Lester Nelson and G. C. Patterly.

Cause Not Determined.

The death well is known as McMillan No. 1. Workmen were in the act of withdrawing casing to probe the region when the explosion occurred. Its cause had not been determined tonight.

The Sanford News building was the first structure moved from the zone of the fire. It was hauled to safety on skids. A high wind hampered workers.

Flames from the well were shooting 200 feet into the air tonight and the earth shook and vibrated for miles, adding to the terror of the women and children hastily fenced away from the scene of destruction.

Meanwhile preparations were going forward for shooting the well tomorrow afternoon, which Thornton set as the earliest it could be attempted with hope of extinguishing the blaze.

Much explosive and live steam will be required to effect the desired result and a failure will mean a long delay, it was explained.

COOK ASSERTS
FUNDS DEPOSITED

Former Cashier in Motor Department Flatly Contradicts Charge as Grand Jury Probes.

With Fulton county grand jury in the process of an exhaustive probe of the $8,483.38 shortage in the motor vehicle department of the secretary of state's office, Charles A. Cook, former cashier in a statement Thursday declared that he had made deposits aggregating $14,700 on March 28, 30 and 31, thus flatly contradicting the charges of S. G. McLendon, made Wednesday in a detailed report of the case to Attorney General George M. Napier. Mr. Cook's statement was made in reply to Mr. McLendon's published report which charged that no deposits had been made from the department from March 25 to 31, the period during which he charges the shortage occurred.

No action was taken by the grand jury Thursday and when the investigating body adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock, it was announced that the probe had not been completed and that investigations would be continued at the regular weekly session today.

In his statement Mr. Cook claims that the records of the department will show these deposits in the treasury and the Atlanta Commercial bank during the period in question and that the excess amount named by the secretary of state as his receipts for the period between March 25 and March 31, 1927.

The secretary intimated that the attempted theft of $500 from the department.

Aviator Says He Will Not Take Part in Any Long Distance Trip for Year at Least.

EFFECT OF STRAIN

Ambassador Herrick Estimates That Offers Made To Lindbergh Total $10,000,000.

Paris, May 26.—(AP)—Captain Charles Lindbergh is not interested personally at present in any long-distance flights and won't be for a year at least, he told The Associated Press tonight.

His statement was made in connection with news of the proposed competition for a $25,000 prize for the first flight between the United States and Honolulu. "Of course," he added, "I will be interested in any one making the flight, that goes without saying."

The American aviator seemed surprised to learn of the sailing of J. E. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines and builder of Captain Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic plane. He said that, of course, if he were still here when Mr. Mahoney arrived, he hoped to see him but that he had no idea what business was bringing Mr. Mahoney to France.

Paris, May 26.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh has lost his smile. The nerve-racking series of fetes, celebrations, banquets and luncheons for five days, following the terrific 33-hour solitary flight over the Atlantic, has aged the youthful pilot 10 years.

The tremendous ovation given Captain Lindbergh since his arrival, the unheard-of welcome extended him, surpassing any reception ever given an individual before, with the clamor of living at the American embassy and thrown hourly in contact with the great figures of the world assembled in France, has wrought a metamorphosis.

"Slim Lindy" is realizing now the full import of the feat he achieved and its probable consequences in affecting his future; the incumbent responsibilities he has assumed and is ready to go through with 't for the development of his hobby—aviation.

Change Is Noted.

Those who have been in contact with him since Saturday night when he alighted like a feather at Le Bourget airfield and who have continued with him on his round of official visits and receptions day after day since that time remark on the change wrought in the lad and the seriousness with which he is contemplating the future amid the scores of offers to embark on various schemes aggregating millions of dollars.

Captain Lindbergh's habitual smile, revealing a perfect set of dazzling white teeth undimmed by nicotine, and flashing blue eyes unblurred by ever touching a drop of alcohol, with his active boyish movements and bubbling Daughter-in-Law Says Novelist Alienated Son's Affections.

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., May 26.—Opie Read, the author, was sued for $50,000 today by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Beatrice Marcus Read, who alleges that he alienated his son's affections from her. She also filed a separate maintenance suit against her husband, Guilford Read.

Mrs. Read, a former movie bathing beauty and cabaret dancer, tells a story not unlike some of the minor works of the prolific writer, her father-in-law. She met the junior Mr. Read while she was an entertainer at the Marigold Gardens. They eloped May 21, 1925, and did not tell their parents they were married until two weeks later.

She was happy to trade the footlights for the fireside. But her husband continued to prefer the brighter lights, she said. This difference in the home, she related, and the usual outcome was varied in that the husband, rather than the wife, was the one to return to his mother, she charged.

Opie Read, who is 35, and his wife, welcomed their son back to their home. It is charged. They were not averse to his abandoning his wife, the suit contends.

EUROPEAN SURVEY OF CRIME MADE

Dr. Louis Robinson Reports to Committee of National Crime Commission in Chicago.

Chicago, May 26.—(AP)—The United States can take a lesson from European countries in the punishment and correction of criminals, Dr. Louis Robinson, former probation officer for the Philadelphia municipal courts, today told a select group of five listeners here.

His declarations, embodied in a report of a survey of penal institutions in Europe, were made to a committee of the national crime commission which held a one-day session. Dr. Robinson, formerly a professor of economics at Swarthmore college, is secretary of the committee on pardons, paroles, probation and corrective institutions.

Dr. Robinson's audience included former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, chairman; former Governor Charles Whitman, of New York, president of the American Bar association; Mrs. Jessie Hadden, superintendent of the Massachusetts reformatory for women; Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and Sumner T. Knight, state senator, Minneapolis.

European penal institutions are more efficiently managed and their staffs are chosen for their knowledge of crime correction, rather than for military or police training, too, estimates running as high as $300,000,000. Although the bulk of the estate of his father, the late William C. Whitney, went to Harry Payne Whitney, brother of Payne, the latter inherited one-fifth of it, and he inherited the bulk of the estate of the late Colonel Oliver Payne, his uncle. Residents Who Failed To Heed U. S. Warning of Louisiana Backwaters Flee Torrents.

New Orleans, May 26.—(AP)—Hundreds of persons in the upper tip of Pointe Coupee parish were marooned tonight by backwaters from the McCrea crevasse on the east bank of the Atchafalaya river as sweeping torrents streamed over a railroad embankment upon which they had relied for protection.

Failure to heed flood warnings had kept the residents in the district until the backwaters rose sufficiently high to become threatening. Hundreds of persons were brought out of the area today on the last train operated by the Texas & Pacific railroad, but it left other hundreds in the district, unable to leave except by boat. Waist deep water poured over the railroad embankment a mile and a half north of Morganza as the train pulled out of the section.

The McCrea crevasse, from which the water is coming, is approximately 130 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi river.

Caught Off Guard.

The rapid spread of the flood waters today brought consternation to many who had remained serenely in the threatened area, confident that their homes would not be flooded, and tonight tonight found a steady stream of refugees pouring from Pointe Coupee parish into concentration camps at Baton Rouge.

An estimated 200 square miles had been covered in Pointe Coupee since the crevasse occurred and the flood waters were spreading with amazing rapidity. Lettsworth, Bachelor and other settlements from 10 to 20 miles from the break were disappearing or being covered by the tawny blanket. A six-foot rise had been shown within the last 24 hours along the Texas & Pacific railroad embankment at Ravenswood.

Boats which were used to go to the aid of persons marooned in the district, many of them the same craft that participated in the evacuation of the Bayou des Glaives sector after the collapse of that levee line. Bayou des Glaives is approximately 170 miles northwest of New Orleans on the west side of the Mississippi.

Forecast Revised.

The New Orleans weather bureau slightly revised its forecast for the Pointe Coupee section today to predict that ridges along eastern Pointe Coupee and the section of west Baton Rouge parish which was not flooded in 1912 would not receive enough water to warrant evacuation, although they might receive from one to two

MISSING PASTOR GIVES STREET SERMON IN ALLEN
BELIEF; ACTS STRANGELY
REFUSING TO TELL PLANS.

Kansas City, Kans., May 26.—(AP) Rev. Roy G. Hershey, missing pastor of a fashionable Atlanta, Ga., church, delivered a street sermon at Allen, Kansas, north of Emporia, last week, it was believed here Thursday night following information from Allen.

In the sermon, the minister referred to incidents of his life in Michigan and referred to himself as "Roy." Rev. Hershey formerly had lived in Detroit. He answered the general description of the missing Georgia minister. Driving into Allen late in the afternoon, he went from house to house announcing he would preach on the streets that night. About 100 people heard him preach. He took up a collection, spent the night in Allen and drove away the following day.

He drove a car similar to the one purchased by Rev. Hershey in St. Joseph, two weeks ago. Persons in Allen said the minister acted in a peculiar manner and told no one where he was going. He told several persons he frequently had spoken in local institutions.

Newark, N. J., May 26.—Rather than be separated, Patrick O'Rourke, 88, and his wife, Margaret, 86, who feared relatives planned to send them to a home for the aged, committed suicide together in their home here today by inhaling gas.

Mrs. O'Rourke was found sitting in a chair in the parlor, wrangled in blankets. Her husband sat in a chair at a window near by. They owned the two-story frame house in which they had lived more than 25 years.

Benefactions of $100,000,000
Credited To Payne Whitney

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, May 26.—The extensive benefactions of Payne Whitney, who died suddenly yesterday while at tennis on his Long Island estate, Green-tree, near Manhasset, was the talk today of his friends. One friend, who preferred to remain anonymous, estimated that Whitney had given away $100,000,000 within the last 25 years.

His benefactions were extraordinary free of publicity, this having been a condition with many of his gifts, and it may never be known just how much of his great fortune he had shared with eleemosynary and educational institutions.

The extent of the fortune he possessed at the time of his death is a matter of wide speculation, too, estimates running as high as $300,000,000. Although the bulk of the estate of his father, the late William C. British - Russian Warfare
Predicted by Red Leader

TO SAY ENGLAND WILL ATTACK SOVIET UNIONS

Toronto, May 26.—(AP)—Maurice Spector, chairman of the communist party in Canada whose name and address was among those seized by the British government at soviet house in London, today expressed the opinion that sooner or later Great Britain and Russia will go to war.

The Canadian communist leader said that even now "the menace of war with the prospect of Canadian participation in it is at least as great as it was during the Chanak crisis, when war with Russia threatened."

"A very serious international crisis is looming ahead," he continued. "I certainly think that the stabilization of Europe, of which the recent Geneva conference showed signs, has been given a decided setback. Since apparently the critics who pointed out that the Locarno conference was a step towards the isolation of the soviet union were correct, we reason that this last diplomatic rupture is a link in the chain of a war front against Russia."

"Sooner or later we believe that Britain will attack the soviet union though not necessarily in the immediate future. For a long time before 1914 the relations between Great Britain and Germany became steadily worse. Germany was used as Britain's national 'bogyman,' and conditions finally culminated in 1914. Today the union of soviet soviet republics has taken the place of Germany in the eyes of the British ruling class of the menace to their imperial power."

The communist party headquarters here occupies three well-furnished offices at 95 King street, east, and considerable literature dealing with the soviet and communist principles is available. "The Worker," the organ of the party in Canada is published at the King street address.

SET HEARING DATE
IN LOVETT CASE

Final hearing on extradition for Ralph B. Lovett, under indictment for complicity in the murder of Bert Donaldson, crime investigator for Solicitor General John A. Boykin, was tentatively set for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, June 10, by Governor Martineau, of Arkansas, Thursday, according to a communication received by the solicitor.

Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens will be sent to Little Rock to present Georgia's claim on the fugitive, who is jointly indicted with Jack Lance, convicted and under sentence of death in the electric chair on June 17. The total number under indictment in connection with the sensational murder has reached 12.

The initial hearing in the case was held several weeks ago, following Lovett's arrest in Lake Village, Ark. At that time the defendant's attorneys presented a number of affidavits claiming that Lovett was in Muskegon, Mich., at the time of the slaying of the noted sleuth.

The state of Georgia, through Arkansas' assistant attorney general, introduced a number of affidavits to prove Lovett's presence in Atlanta and that the fugitive had been seen in a rooming house near the Georgian Terrace hotel, in which the murder occurred, in conference with Lance.

Governor Martineau has indicated that he will order extradition if Solicitor Boykin's representatives can disprove the evidence submitted by Lovett's counsel that he was in Michigan when the crime was committed.

In the event that the fight for extradition of Lovett is successful, Solicitor Boykin has announced that he will be immediately returned to Atlanta to face an early trial.

Due to the conflicting evidence as to the whereabouts of Lovett at the time of the crime, Governor Martineau deferred action following the initial hearing. The new date was set at the request of Solicitor Boykin, who recently wrote Governor Martineau asking for an early date.

THEATER MAGNATE WEDS EX-WIFE OF FRANK GOULD

London, May 26.—(AP)—Albert de Courville, London theatrical producer, and Edith Kelly Gould, former wife of Frank J. Gould, were married this morning at the office of the registrar.

Mr. de Courville, who has been at a nursing home suffering from an illness, was taken by his physician in a motor car to the registrar's office and after the wedding returned to the nursing home.

The wedding had been scheduled for yesterday, but was postponed because the couple failed to obtain their marriage license in time.

While de Courville was waiting for the necessary papers to be prepared, he almost collapsed, but a glass of water and the use of smelling salts revived him. He was able to stand for the short ceremony and left leaning on his wife's arm, smiling to a few acquaintances.

The bride said that de Courville really was seriously ill but he was "just crazy to have our wedding take place and the doctors thought it would help him if the ceremony was carried through."

Y. M. C. A. BECOMES
COEDUCATIONAL BODY

(By Associated Press to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune)
Chicago, Ill., May 25.—The Young Men's Christian association has now become a co-educational institution. This announcement was made today at a meeting of a joint committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

In dozens of cities throughout the country young women have been coming to the Y. M. C. A. buildings and using the same swimming pools and gymnasiums as their boy friends. But the Y. M. C. A. facilities at separate hours.

Recognition of "this new freedom" in the social relations between the sexes is largely responsible for the opening of Y. M. C. A. buildings to women. The result of continued demands from women and girls that they be given the use of Y. M. C. A. buildings resulted in a conference with the Young Women's Christian association which paved the way to the opening of the men's facilities to the female sex.

That the moral standard of men and boys cannot be raised unless that of the women and girls in the same community is likewise raised was a prime factor in the decision to allow women the use of the Y. M. C. A. buildings, according to the report which was made public by George O. Draper, secretary of the physical department of the national Y. M. C. A. council.

U. S. WANTS FORD
STOCK ASSESSED
ON 1913 VALUE

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—The board of tax appeals was asked today by the federal government to fix the valuation of Ford Motor stock as of March 1, 1913, for purposes of determining the final amount of taxes to be paid on such stock sold in 1919 by Senator Coughlin, republican, Michigan, the Dodge and other minority holders.

Moreover, the board was asked to hold that Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair acted legally in reopening the case and assessing an additional $30,000,000 in taxes after it had been settled by former Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

Callahan attention that counsel for the taxpayers had insisted that $9,500 of the sale price per share represented value accrued before March 1, 1913, and only $23,000 represented the value accrued after that date. Mr. Gregg said this was "an astounding contention, in the light of the record."

TROY A. SAUNDERS
DIES AT JENKINSBURG

Jackson, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Troy A. Saunders, 33, one of Butts county's best known citizens, died at his home at Jenkinsburg Thursday morning. He was a member of Macedonia Baptist church.

Mr. Saunders is survived by one daughter, Miss Lena Jane Saunders; three sons, W. J. Albert and Morris Saunders; two brothers, G. P. Saunders of Jackson, and C. B. Saunders of Eastman, Ga.

Funeral services will be held at Jenkinsburg Friday morning and interment will be in the church yard beside his wife.

U. S. PHYSICIANS EXAMINE CARROLL

Greenville, S. C., May 26.—(AP)—Dr. James S. Foulke, diagnostician, and Dr. C. Free Williams, psychiatrist, both of Columbia, this afternoon made a thorough physical and mental examination of Earl Carroll, who is charged with the murder of a woman in the short ceremony and left leaning on his wife's arm, smiling to a few acquaintances.

The bride said that de Courville really was seriously ill but he was "just crazy to have our wedding take place and the doctors thought it would help him if the ceremony was carried through."

Y. M. C. A. BECOMES
COEDUCATIONAL BODY

(By Associated Press to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune)
Chicago, Ill., May 25.—The Young Men's Christian association has now become a co-educational institution. This announcement was made today at a meeting of a joint committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

In dozens of cities throughout the country young women have been coming to the Y. M. C. A. buildings and using the same swimming pools and gymnasiums as their boy friends. But the Y. M. C. A. facilities at separate hours.

Recognition of "this new freedom" in the social relations between the sexes is largely responsible for the opening of Y. M. C. A. buildings to women. The result of continued demands from women and girls that they be given the use of Y. M. C. A. buildings resulted in a conference with the Young Women's Christian association which paved the way to the opening of the men's facilities to the female sex.

That the moral standard of men and boys cannot be raised unless that of the women and girls in the same community is likewise raised was a prime factor in the decision to allow women the use of the Y. M. C. A. buildings, according to the report which was made public by George O. Draper, secretary of the physical department of the national Y. M. C. A. council.

U. S. WANTS FORD
STOCK ASSESSED
ON 1913 VALUE

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—The board of tax appeals was asked today by the federal government to fix the valuation of Ford Motor stock as of March 1, 1913, for purposes of determining the final amount of taxes to be paid on such stock sold in 1919 by Senator Coughlin, republican, Michigan, the Dodge and other minority holders.

Moreover, the board was asked to hold that Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair acted legally in reopening the case and assessing an additional $30,000,000 in taxes after it had been settled by former Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

Callahan attention that counsel for the taxpayers had insisted that $9,500 of the sale price per share represented value accrued before March 1, 1913, and only $23,000 represented the value accrued after that date. Mr. Gregg said this was "an astounding contention, in the light of the record."

TROY A. SAUNDERS
DIES AT JENKINSBURG

Jackson, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Troy A. Saunders, 33, one of Butts county's best known citizens, died at his home at Jenkinsburg Thursday morning. He was a member of Macedonia Baptist church.

Mr. Saunders is survived by one daughter, Miss Lena Jane Saunders; three sons, W. J. Albert and Morris Saunders; two brothers, G. P. Saunders of Jackson, and C. B. Saunders of Eastman, Ga.

Funeral services will be held at Jenkinsburg Friday morning and interment will be in the church yard beside his wife.

Rain at Jackson.

Jackson, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Following the fine rains of the past day or two, the first in several weeks, farmers of Butts county are busily engaged in transplanting pimientos and potato plants.

The rain was badly needed, as wells were beginning to show the result of the long dry spell.

FLORIDA PROHIBITION
STAFF REDUCED,
REPORTS STATE

Miami, Fla., May 26.—(AP)—Ten federal prohibition agents in Florida have been discharged or have resigned under pressure within the last week or ten days, leaving only three raiding agents active in the entire state, according to a story published today by the Miami Daily News.

Two possible explanations of the wholesale shakeup are suggested in the story. One was that political differences exist between R. E. Tuttle, prohibition administrator for the southeastern division, and J. H. Lee, Florida administrator. The other was that an intensive secret investigation by department of justice agents had exposed allegedly irregular practices among some of the agents. The story said federal officials in Miami held numerous affidavits supporting these charges.

The only three federal prohibition raiders remaining active in Florida were said to be C. W. Standau, O. G. Dozier and R. O. Clark.

Telegrams sent to Mr. Lee and Mrs. Tuttle requested information of the shakeup were unanswered, the Daily News said.

Ex-Slave, Eighty, 'Rumatics' Bent, Seeks 'Mr. John'

BY BEN COOPER.

He was a dejected, pitiful old wood-topped bit of human driftwood, cast up by the adverse winds of fate into the dark stairway of a building on Deatur street, a stone's throw from police station. Here he was resting until morning, when he would amble on to Grady hospital with the aid of a cane to seek relief for two greatly swollen legs, the result of several years of "rumatics."

A street sweeper discovered the old man, and called the police. He explained in old-time dinkie dialect: "The doctor told me to go to Grady hospital. Ah couldn't make it all the way, 'uh, as they pains me right smart an' Ah can't walk lak Ah used to."

Sympathetic police officers gave him lodging in a "dopey" at the police station, providing a bed out of a box in the rear of the station house, with a crocus sack for cover. He waited for morning, that he might go on to Grady hospital.

He was born in Lincoln county, in slavery. His "old master" was Dr. Haynes Walton, Lincoln county physician, but ever since the war between the states, made him free, he has been living in Atlanta, making a small living as a carpenter.

"Mah name is Charles Abrams, 'uh," he told police. "How old? Eighty years, 'uh. Eighty years, but I was pretty spry until my rumatics started to bother me two years ago."

He lived on Logan street for a long time, he said, but now is without a home. His wife died a "long time ago," and he has no children.

"If Ah could just find Mr. John Walton, 'uh, he'd look out for mah. Mr. John, he's old Dr. Walton's son, and he's in business here in Atlanta. Ah don't know where to find him, 'uh, but he told me once upon a time, 'uh, that he'd place that Ah ever needed help to come to him."

The old man said that he has helped to build a lot Atlanta's buildings, including the old Pryor street court house and the present Kimball house. "But Ah can't work no more, 'uh," he said. "Ah jest wish Ah could find Mr. John."

HOLLOMON SPEAKER AT JAYCEE LUNCH

Featured by an address by James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, the regular weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday was devoted to next week's golf tournament which the Jaycees will sponsor at Brookhaven and to the introduction of new members enrolled in the membership drive just ended.

Mr. Hollomon spoke on "Citizenship," and pointed to the small vote polled in local elections as one of the greatest evils with which Atlanta has to contend.

Ed Robertson and Paul Barcroft, of the golf tourney committee, described the lengthy list of prizes to be awarded in the event, which starts Monday and ends Thursday. Frank A. Hooper, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker of the day.

They cut clear to the points!

Guaranteed perfect in both workmanship and material.

RAILROAD SEEKS CHARTER CHANGE ON BOARD NUMBER

Power to elect a board of directors of not less than five and not more than 15 to manage the affairs of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, is sought in a petition filed with Secretary of State S. G. McEldon.

The original charter, granted in 1847 when the railroad was known as the Atlanta and LaGrange Railroad company, until 1857, did not specify the number of directors to constitute the board for the railroad, the petition stated. The charter, however, did provide that the president, secretary and treasurer, were to be elected by the stockholders. It was stated, and that a quorum of the board of directors should consist of not less than five.

Under the proposed amendment, four directors of the railroad company at any meeting shall constitute a quorum. This amendment was approved at a meeting of the stockholders of the railroad in Atlanta, April 19, the petition said.

ATLANTA UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT PLANS

Jackson Davis, of Richmond, general field agent of the general education board, will be principal speaker at the 28th commencement exercises of Atlanta university which will be held on the campus Wednesday, June 1, at 10 o'clock. The annual commencement program will start Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when the baccalaureate service will be delivered by President W. M. Adams.

Included in the commencement program during the week is a reception by President Adams and his wife on Monday afternoon in North Hall on the campus, a pageant by the junior normal class and a group of undergraduates, the annual alumni business meeting, the annual alumni supper, and the conferring of degrees and awards Wednesday morning.

University School Glee Club To Offer Concert Tonight

The Glee club of the University School for Boys will give a concert at Eggleston hall Friday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Vocal solos by Hardy Johns, Douglas Orr, of the faculty, and Walter Herbert, the director, will be featured. There will be a violin solo and Herman Reed will play the ever popular saxophone. The program will be lively and varied, with humorous as well as dignified selections.

Accompanists will be Miss Lillian Smith and Ransom Wynn. The latter will play a group of up-to-date popular songs on the piano.

W. L. GOOLSBY DIES, STRICKEN AT WORK

Funeral services for W. L. Goolsby, 55, veteran employee of the Southern railway, who died suddenly Thursday morning in a private hospital after being stricken while on duty at the Terminal station, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

He was a native of Forsyth county, but came to Atlanta at an early age. He was a member of the Richmond Street Baptist church, a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

Mr. Goolsby is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Evelyn Goolsby and Mrs. J. J. Davis, of Greenville, S. C.; a son, Theo Goolsby; a stepson, W. J. Holland, and his father, John L. Goolsby, of Cummings. H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

PONCE DE LEON CHURCH PLANS MUSIC SERVICE

The service hour next Sunday night at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church will be given to a musical program consisting of several anthems, featuring various solo voices, and the cantata, "The Life Everlasting," by Alexander H. Matthews.

The choir consists of Mrs. S. B. Johnson, soprano; Mrs. J. H. Whitton, contralto; A. W. Brown, tenor; and H. R. Bates, baritone.

The service hour is 7:30 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited.

15 AT VILLA RICA ARE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia School of Technology, delivered the graduating address at the Villa Rica High school Wednesday night at the school auditorium, at which time 15 members of the graduating class received their diplomas.

Graduating exercises were opened by the class song of the seniors which was followed by the salutatory address by Miss Doris Parker and an orchestra selection, "Moonlight." After Dr. Brittain's literary address, Miss Ruth Furr rendered the class essay, "Miss Clara Collier's valuable collection."

Diplomas were presented by G. H. Coleman, superintendent of the school. Mrs. Carolyn Connally is principal. Members of the graduating class are Pauline Baggett, Clara Cole, Hubert Coleman, Annie Ruth Doyal, Ruth Furr, James Goff, Harriet Elizabeth Harner, Julian Stover, Tolbert, Connie Jeffers, James H. Leathers, Mae McLarty, Ruth Powell, Minnie Matthews, Doris Parker and Sara Ellen Smith.

U. S. COURT RECEIVES EMERGENCY FUNDS

The United States court and the marshal's office for the northern district of Georgia, Thursday received funds to provide for normal operation until the regular appropriations are made available, July 1, according to an announcement by United States Marshal Louis H. Crawford.

Although funds are now available to pay jurors, it is unlikely that many cases will be tried before July 1 as more than an hundred cases were stricken from the calendar and set for trial after beginning of the fiscal year and it would prove difficult to rearrange the calendar, according to officials.

Failure to pass the deficiency appropriation bill during the last session of congress has caused a shortage in federal court funds throughout the country.

FIRST CONVENTION OF YOUNG PEOPLE AT CENTER HILL

The Methodist Protestant church will hold its Young People's convention of the Georgia conference on Saturday and Sunday, May 28 and 29, at Center Hill church.

The Saturday afternoon and evening sessions will be devoted to the work of the Sunday school and Sunday to the development of Christian Endeavor work in Georgia.

Speakers will be the Rev. Lawrence Little, of Concord, N. C., executive secretary of Young People's work and Dr. James H. Straughlin, of Washington, D. C.

Other speakers include Miss Callie Allgood, president of the Young People's board; the Rev. C. A. Healy, of Atlanta; Mr. H. H. Hinton, president of the Georgia conference; the Rev. E. P. Cowan, Miss Susan Baird, Miss Irene Cowan, the Rev. C. D. Martin and the Rev. Grady Lively.

Mrs. S. S. McGarity, of Decatur, Ga., and the Rev. Andrew Jenkins and family will have charge of the music.

RAINS ARE OVER FOR SEVERAL DAYS, SAYS FORECASTER

Fine, clear weather is predicted for Atlanta and vicinity the next few days by C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Temperatures are not expected to vary materially from those of Thursday when a low and high reading of 63 and 82, respectively, were recorded.

The brief rain during the afternoon measured only .01 of an inch, according to the weather bureau, and no more rain is in sight for at least a couple of days, it was stated. The rains of Wednesday and Thursday were general over the state.

LAST RITES HELD FOR H. D. MILLER

Funeral services for Henry D. Miller, 65, of 596 Simpson street, were held Wednesday from the Apostles Baptist church, Auburn, Ga. Interment followed in the churchyard.

Mr. Miller had been in the employ of the government for a number of years. He was a former U. S. deputy marshal.

He is survived by his wife; four sons, Dr. John N. Miller, of Gainesville; Lloyd A. Miller, of Birmingham; Leonard H. Miller, and Eugene Miller and four daughters, Mrs. L. G. Cook, of Douglas, Ga.; Mrs. C. H. Morgan, of Atlanta; Mrs. E. H. Jennings, of Bradenton, Fla.; and Mrs. H. D. Coffey, of Waukegan, Wis.

CELTARTOWN FUNERAL FOR MRS. L. R. WADDEY

Mrs. L. R. Waddey, 49, of 569 Cresthill avenue, secretary to Judge Warner H. Hill for several years, died Thursday morning at the residence, following a brief illness. The body will be taken this morning to Celtartown for funeral services and interment.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. H. G. McGhee, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. J. W. Murray; a brother, Ed Hinton, of Cedar town, and her mother, Mrs. M. O. Hittington, of Celtartown. H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

GENERAL SUMMERALL WILL VISIT ATLANTA

Major General C. P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, who has been attending graduation exercises of the officers' training school at Fort Benning, will spend Saturday night in Atlanta as the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. B. Gardner, on La France avenue.

The general, who is on an inspection tour of southeastern army posts, will visit Atlanta while en route to Washington, D. C., where he is expected to resume his duties at army headquarters the first of the coming week.

BIG BETHEL CONCERT SLATED FOR JUNE 16

Plans will be completed at a meeting of the executive committee this morning at 11 o'clock in Big Bethel A. M. E. church to arrange programs for the annual concert to be presented in the city auditorium June 16. Rev. J. L. Butler, pastor of Big Bethel A. M. E. church, is chairman of the committee and will make the opening address.

TO UNVEIL BOONE TABLET TONIGHT IN CAPITOL SQUARE

Unveiling and dedication exercises of the Boone highway tablet on Capitol square are to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock, J. Hampton Rich, member of the Boone highway trail committee, announced Thursday.

Feature of the dedication program will be a sketch of the life of the American pioneer, Daniel Boone, in a paper prepared by John Hays Hammond, not a scientist and member of the Boone Memorial Highway association. The paper will be read by a prominent citizen of Atlanta, Mr. Rich announced.

Dean S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, to which the tablet was presented several years ago, will designate a member of the faculty of the university to make the dedication address. T. B. Higdon, president of the North Carolina society of Atlanta, will preside.

GETS $8,500 DAMAGES FOR DEATH OF SON

Willie Stinson, negro, was awarded $8,500 damages against the Georgia Power company, a verdict returned Thursday morning by a jury in Judge

Hugh M. Dorsey's division of the city court of Atlanta.

The plaintiff brought suit for the loss of the services of her son, who was killed as the result of a collision between a trolley car and an automobile in which the negro was riding. The accident occurred at the intersection of Auburn avenue and Jackson street. The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Thomas J. Lewis and John Dennis.

POWER COMPANY

—A CITIZEN WHEREVER WE SERVE—

You Wouldn't Part with this Teapot for $10.00

Introductory Offer

To make more tea drinkers we want to introduce BANQUET EXTRA FANCY ORANGE PEKOE TEA into Atlanta at once. Our desire for quick distribution is your opportunity, not only to enjoy a wonderful tea, but to own, at a price far below its actual cost, a teapot for brewing your tea correctly.

Act now and save $1.05 on this wonderful Banquet Percolator Teapot.

See how beautifully it is proportioned. It's patterned after an ancient Pompeian urn. And it's the most scientifically constructed teapot made!

Tea should never be made in a metal vessel. This teapot is of fine quality porcelain chinaware, glazed inside and out.

The leaves should never be left in the pot after the tea is drawn. This teapot has removable well that can be taken out after the tea is brewed. The lid doesn't fall out when pouring. The spout is designed to pour without dripping. The pot is a beautiful golden brown in color. No, you wouldn't part with this teapot for $10.00. Yet in actual cash it costs you only 95 cents. You have never tasted such tea as it makes, crystal clear, full-bodied and delicious. In truth, you have never really tasted tea or known its full delight until you've tried Banquet Tea made in this Banquet Teapot.

This Offer Not Good With Ten-Cent Size

How You Can Get This Teapot

Go to one of the stores listed below. Buy a package of Banquet Tea. Then in addition to the price of the tea, hand your grocer 95 cents and you will receive this $2.00 teapot. You save $1.05. You'll have the Tea With The Wonderful Flavor and a Teapot that will grace any table—a teapot that your friends will envy.

Banquet is specially selected hill-grown tea from the finest Oriental gardens. Every leaf of it is vacuum cleaned. You get only the purest tea. Then, it's sealed into air-tight canisters that keep for you every bit of that Wonderful Flavor and delightful fragrance.

This special offer to Atlanta tea lovers is for a limited time only. Don't fail to take advantage of it.

We guarantee that if you are not entirely satisfied with this beautiful Banquet Percolator Teapot and do not discover that Banquet Tea is the finest you have ever used, we will refund your money.

Name of Lucky Atlantan May Shine on Broadway

Listen, good looking Atlanta girls, would you like to see your name in brilliant electric lights shining on Broadway? Then read here about The Constitution "Opportunity Contest" to be staged the week of June 5 to 11 in pick out one girl from Atlanta to work in "Young America," a Public theater production which will make a tour of 21 cities of the country during the summer. The girl who wins The Constitution contest will be paid $75 a week for 21 weeks, will receive free transportation to New York and will be given valuable training for a stage career.

Unmarried girls between 18 and 25 years old are eligible for the contest. To enter a photograph must be sent to the "Opportunity Editor" of The Constitution. From the photographs sent in will be selected the girls who will enter the public auditions to be held at the Howard theater the week of June 5 to 11. The finals will be held Friday night, June 11, when the winners of the four prizes will be selected by the judges.

First prize in the contest is the 21 weeks' engagement with "Young America," which will begin at the Paramount theater in New York July 9. Second prize is $100, third prize $50 and fourth prize $25 in Public theater checks, good at any Public theater in the country.

The girls who are selected to represent the 20 cities will make a tour that will reach from Canada to Texas. Some of the cities to be visited are New Haven, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, Memphis, Atlanta, Dallas, New Orleans, Indianapolis, Omaha and Des Moines. The Atlanta girl will take the part of Miss Atlanta in "Young America."

Girls who can sing, dance, play musical instruments, act or recite have excellent opportunities of winning prizes in The Constitution contest.

Last year The Constitution staged a "Charleston contest" which was won by Miss Trinit Jackson. Miss Jackson later obtained several valuable engagements and is now playing an engagement at a New York theater.

Girls who have no late photographs go to the Stephens studio in the Connally building and have one made free. Photographs must be sent in by Friday, June 5.

PEACHTREE GARDENS WILL OPEN TONIGHT

With the arrival Thursday afternoon of the Charles Dornberger orchestra, Peachtree Gardens, Atlanta's first real night club, is ready for its opening tonight. The last detail of the handsome building, where more than 800 people will have room to dine with ample space left for dancing, has been completed. The immense electrical refrigerators are filled with food and the opening will be attended by a capacity crowd.

"Peachtree Gardens," General Manager L. P. Kilgore says, "will give to the people of Atlanta the first high-grade amusement resort catering to the late-night crowd. It will open at seven each evening and stop open until two in the morning. In addition to high-class acts from the leading supper clubs in the country, our patrons will be given every opportunity for dancing to the music of the famous Dornberger orchestra. We are especially anxious for the public to understand that Peachtree Gardens is to be operated solely for ladies and gentlemen. It is to be the kind of a place you will attend with your wife and daughters. It will be clean and wholesome, a place for recreation and amusement at a cost that is entirely reasonable.

"The immense dining room is so arranged that almost every table affords a clear view of the stage and dancing floor. The advance sale of table reservations for the opening night has been so large that many people have the idea that it is impossible to get well located tables. We can still supply a number of highly desirable tables, but suggest that you make your reservations as early this morning as possible, at 911 Atlanta Trust building."

Atlantan Colonel For Both Armies In Nicaragua Row

Honors from both factions engaged in warfare for the last few months in Nicaragua were won by Marion R. Alexander, of the Atlanta headquarters of the Associated Press, who has just returned from that country where he has been handling news for his organization.

Honorary commissions as colonel were given Mr. Alexander in both the Diaz army and the opposing army led for a time by General Jose M. Menendez.

The commissions were given the Atlanta man because of the "impartiality" of his reporting the events for the Associated Press.

Mr. Alexander brought with him his commission in the Diaz army, President Diaz, in presenting the honor, expressed keen appreciation of the work of Mr. Alexander.

"This is the only way I can express my appreciation for your impartial news stories and your gracious consideration for this government," President Diaz wrote Mr. Alexander.

After a short rest, Mr. Alexander will resume his duties in the Atlanta office of his organization.

HOUSE-BREAKERS RECEIVE LENGTHY CHAIN GANG TERMS

Pending guilty Thursday for burglarizing the residence of J. T. Jones, Jr., on Gordon road, L. R. Smith was sentenced to serve from six to ten years on the chain gang by Judge John S. Wood, of the Blue Ridge circuit, who is presiding in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court.

Smith is alleged to have entered the Jones residence shortly after he escaped from the Fulton county river convict camp and to have stolen a quantity of clothing. When apprehended by county police a few hours afterward he is said to have discarded his convict garb and to have been dressed in some of the stolen garments.

Reuben Thomas pleaded guilty to charges of simple larceny and burglary and was sentenced to serve from five to nine years by Judge Wood. He was given a 12 months term on the simple larceny charge in connection with the alleged theft of a survivor's compass from Dr. Roy McGee and a five to nine-year term for breaking into the store of Joe Turner.

AVENUE OF TREES PLANNED IN HONOR OF WAR VETERANS

An avenue of trees planted in memory of world war veterans to line the roadway to the Stone Mountain memorial was the topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the "Looking Forward club" of the South Bend district. The meeting was held at Orchard Knob.

A committee composed of R. O. Walters, T. C. Waters and W. B. Taliferro was appointed to continue investigation and begin in touch with the proposed legislation. Another meeting will be held June 14 at 8 o'clock at Orchard Knob.

INCLUSION IN CITY SOUTH BEND TOPIC

Proposed extension of the city limits of Atlanta on the south side of the city was the principal topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the "Looking Forward club" of the South Bend district. The meeting was held at Orchard Knob.

A committee composed of R. O. Walters, T. C. Waters and W. B. Taliferro was appointed to continue investigation and begin in touch with the proposed legislation. Another meeting will be held June 14 at 8 o'clock at Orchard Knob.

Amateur Ads Are Invited ENTRANTS ON COMMON FOOTING IN "RIGHT-AD" EVENT In Third Week's Contest

Mail your ads and ideas to the "Right Ad" Editor of The Constitution at once and they will be in time for the third judging in the big $4,000 amateur ad-writing contest.

All ads received before 9 o'clock Monday morning will be considered when the $50 cash grand and 120 weekly merchandise prizes are awarded Monday afternoon.

In this contest everyone is treated alike. Newspaper employees and professional ad writers are barred in order to eliminate unfair competition. Ideas, not technicalities, control the awards. This gives everyone an equal chance. Ideas can be presented in whatever way a reader can best express himself on paper. There are no obligations or inconveniences—nothing need be bought or sold. There are no subscriptions to be obtained.

A reader is simply asked to write ideas, using a separate sheet of paper for each idea. Each ad should have the name and address of the author written on the back so the "Right Ad" editor will know where to send the prize, should it win. Contestants are asked to place their names on the back, because the ads are judged face up and the judges in this way don't know whose ads they are judging.

This does away with the possibility of personal favoritism.

Here are the rules that give all needed information.

1. The contest may be entered at any time merely by sending an advertising idea to the "Right Ad" editor, The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Everyone may compete except professional ad writers and newspaper employees. This is an amateur contest for people who have never written advertising as you wish in the same envelope.

3. Write about any one advertiser or many as you like. You may win any number of prizes.

4. Each ad submitted must be on a separate sheet of paper. Write on one side of the paper only—put your name and address on the other side. Put as many ad ideas as you wish in the same envelope.

5. The contest is under no obligation of any kind.

6. A different group of judges will be selected and announced each week from among Atlanta residents.

7. The names of all prize winners will be published each week and some of the prize-winning ads reproduced.

$4,000 in Cash and Prizes.

will be awarded weekly—five prizes for the best ads on each advertiser.

Fifty dollars cash awarded weekly as a grand prize.

The four grand cash prizes of $200, $200, $100 and $50 will be awarded for the four best ideas of the entire contest.

Best ideas of the entire contest.
(Copyright, 1925, E. H. & L. Plante.)

Tips for contestants follow:

Duffee-Freeman.
The Duffee-Freeman company believes that decorative furniture makes for distinctive homes—that homes of character are built with "Furniture of Character."

In the opinion of the interior decorator, experts of this establishment, individuality can often be obtained by one or two unusual pieces. A high-backed chair, a beautiful mirror, a bright vase, a number of smaller tables, an unusual lamp or a quaint desk will often turn the trick.

M. Rich & Bros. Co.
Try an ad for Rich's bargain basement and win a prize.

Contrary to the common practice, the M. Rich & Bros. Co. operates its bargain basement as a separate unit, buying new merchandise to meet the special needs of those who shop there. Slow-moving merchandise from the upstairs departments is never taken to the bargain basement, but is disposed of at a reduced price in the department in which it was bought originally. The bargain basement carries almost as diversified a stock as the upper floors of this great store.

Yarbrough-Mentzer Co.
Mechanical excellence of the Studebaker is attested to by reports from more than 800 Studebaker owners whose cars have been driven 100,000 miles or more and are still in service.

According to the ratings of the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Lehigh type Studebaker motor is the most powerful in any car of its size and weight. This, together with its built-in quality, accounts for the endurance of the Studebaker car.

Atlanta Milling Co.
The Atlanta Milling company's home economics department is conducted by the makers of the famous Capitola and Miss Dixie flours for two purposes. The major reason is to serve women of the south by testing and reporting all new and better household practices. In addition, new recipes, novel and more economical ways of preparing favorite recipes are being developed and given to the public. The second reason is that the home economics department is a proving place for the flours of this company.

Howard Theater.
The Howard theater is where Atlanta keeps cool. In fact, as Loy S. Vins, one of last week's prize winners says, the Howard is "a tired man's haven."

Relaxation is essential to health and success. By an evening's recreation a person fits himself for tomorrow's busy day. Good music and a pleasing story portrayed by star performers have no equal in giving the complete relaxation a person needs, especially in so comfortable a theater as the Howard.

If the church was a dominant force in community life when it taught religion and nothing else, and if the churches that took up vaudeville lost prestige, and if the preachers who now have the largest following are those who teach the old-time religion, one cannot escape the conclusion that the people have an appetite for religion.

To offer them a substitute is simply to lose their confidence and leave them with no alternatives.

respecting the church, he has no leadership, of course, unless there is contrast between leader and followers. And since the people have gone to school, and the man in the pew knows just as much as the man in the pulpit, the preacher has no chance to establish himself as a leader if he depends on his ability as a lecturer.

The old-fashioned preacher led because he confined himself to religion, and in that field he knew more than the members of his flock knew.

The modern preacher is not better informed than the members of his congregation, nor is his intellect superior to theirs; but he can acquire the superiority essential to leadership by the simple expedient of sticking to his trade.

He knows religion as the people do not. They will learn eagerly if he is able to teach. But if he hasn't anything to offer except entertainment, he can't blame them if they go to hear better entertainers.

When the church quits its ancient role and begins to compete with "worldly" things, it is like a merchant who has a monopoly of bread and yet fills his shelves with toys.

nuance minute in the troublesome days of a year ago, stole a march on the rest of the assemblage by slipping his card for Lindy to sign during the vocal festivities, which annoyed Edmund Herriot so much, four sets away, that he passed his along, too. Slim breathed a sigh of relief when, from the first time an interpreter was used and put the several hundred thousand-word Latin eloquence into English, and he seemed surprised to find out that he had been right. The whole was meant to show what a fine fellow he, Charlie Lindbergh, was.

But Lindbergh, who had proved to the assembly's vast enthusiasm that his sister's feat had forever rendered the "Lindberghs" Captain Lind high in the esteem of the world, simply smiled always. This time the few minutes he takes out when he gets up, to master the subject, did not seem to pass at all. It seemed longer, but when he spoke his message was firm and unemotional in tone, and the others, and his mind was clear.

and made me express my appreciation to those who had helped me and my country," he said. "I have said everything, but I must express one remaining desire. I want to be the precursor of commercial aviation uniting your country and mine as they never before were united. I want to be the first to fly, to mean, meant his channel flight to be a forerunner for the commercial link between France and England that eventually would be the hope of Captains Nungesser and Goll if they had landed in Tully as the notables got up to go.

The translation! Give us the translation!" he said. "I will give you the same to hear?"—he got his translation. Then they led Slim to a window to show him 15,000 people massed in front of the capitol building, ready to hang unpopular politicians to lamp posts during the revolution.

"Meaning to give them their money's worth," said Slim.

"Then I'll go down to the capitol window ledge and wave his hat white as snow," said Slim.

"No, no," Duomer and Mr. Herriot protested, fearing that the lad who braved the heat of the sun would also brave the wrath of Ambassador Herrick, not to be trifled with.

"You see, I'm going to get it all outdone, climbed on the ledge beside the boy of whom he was so proud and tell him that I've done it."

"All right," said Slim, "but if you're mobile at a speed of 40 miles per hour men were horror-struck. M. Godin got hold of one foot and M. Herriot the other. While M. Doumer threw his hand to his forehead, M. Godin said he would take the responsibility if Uncle Sam's emissary broke his neck.

"He's got the nerve, that ambassador," exclaimed the multitude of excited milk-headed dignitaries.

POLICE RELIEF BODY ANNUAL PICNIC JUNE 1

The annual picnic and barbecue of the Atlanta Police Relief association, an organization composed only of members of the city police force, will be held June 1. The affair is open to the general public. Funds received will go to the relief fund.

The object of the association is the welfare of members, their families or persons dependent upon them; relief of members during sickness or disability; benefits in case of death; and similar fraternal purposes.

At a meeting held late Monday afternoon, the following business committees were designated: General committee, O. C. Howell, chairman; C. H. Mitchell, vice chairman; J. C. Butler, George E. Cole, F. J. Norton, C. F. Preston and J. H. Smith.

Committee on business view: H. W. Douglas, chairman; C. L. Taylor, W. R. Harrison, E. L. Hollenbeck and J. A. Wright.

Committee on drinks: W. E. Chatham, chairman; W. P. Reed, W. A. Adams, J. D. Wood and J. W. Barfield.

Committee on bread and tables: P. L. Williams, chairman; H. T. Brown, F. M. Bell, C. P. Wright and C. E. Ford.

Committee on tickets and advertisement: Lieutenant E. C. Hudson, chairman; W. C. Duncan, W. W. Ford and J. C. Harrison.

Committee on entertainment: J. C. Davis, chairman; J. C. Mosley, R. O. Liddell and L. J. Carroll.

H. P. Schilder, chairman of the day watch, is president of the association, while J. M. Austin, city detective, is secretary.

This will be the first year that the famous Atlanta police band will play at the annual barbecue.

How to Stop Skin Itching In 2 Minutes

First, Don't scratch. Scratching simply irritates and spreads the infection, often inducing blood poisoning.

Second, If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind, pimples, itch, letter, ringworm, eczema, etc., a pleasant ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective germ-killing and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, through its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the germs that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c for a large box, or sent direct, postpaid, upon receipt of price. Shipping Co., Desk C, Savannah, Ga.—(Ad.)

Summer Rains Menace To You; Get Insurance

Summer showers are here again. While they are cool and refreshing, they present an actual menace to you. Slippery streets cause traffic accidents that imperil you whether you're a motorist or a pedestrian. They intensify the already alarming accident wave sweeping city, town and country the nation over.

Guard against them. Insure your self today.

The Constitution tapers you the greatest protective opportunity ever extended the public. For the small sum of $1.25 per year you can secure the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance company of Chicago, which already has paid more than $2,000,000 on claims of Constitution policyholders.

This famous policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $2,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash sums for permanent injuries; and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the specified major risks.

A train wreck, a crash of cars, the crushing wheels of a speeding automobile or a burning building may leave three trading for nothing. In addition to commercial and trade training, the school gives vocational preparation for unemployed boys and girls, English for foreigners, as well as cultural studies.

Twelve nationalities are represented in the Americanization classes; students ranging in age from 14 to 45 composing the student body; adults from every precinct of the city representing over 60 occupations and professions attend before or after employment hours.

Graduates are Georgia Evelyn Long, Raymond H. Bird, Rosalind Victor, Mrs. Fay Miller, Mrs. E. R. Smith, Mrs. W. J. White, Madeline Glendon, Tommie Samuels, Mrs. Mary Wingo, Ruby Brock, Hazel Hubbard, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. J. B. Williams, Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. A. L. OPPORTUNITY SCHOOL GRADUATION MONDAY

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of the Second Baptist church, will deliver the inspirational address at the graduation exercises of the Atlanta Opportunity school in the auditorium of the Commercial High school at 8 o'clock Monday evening, May 29.

Diplomas will be presented to 42 graduates by Dr. R. H. Kuhn, president of the board of education. J. P. Cannon, state supervisor of trades and industries, will present honor emblems to 27 former graduates of the school who have followed successfully the vocation for which the school trained them.

Music will be furnished by the Boys' High School orchestra. Mrs. Mary L. Hux, principal of the Atlanta Opportunity school, will deliver the address of welcome and introduce Dr. Jones, the speaker of the evening. The benediction will be pronounced by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools.

Operated by City.

The Opportunity school is the part-time continuation school of the city, operated by the city school system for citizens over 14 years of age who wish to continue study along a definite business line or enter into one of three trades for women. In addition to commercial and trade training, the school gives vocational preparation for unemployed boys and girls, English for foreigners, as well as cultural studies.

Twelve nationalities are represented in the Americanization classes; students ranging in age from 14 to 45 composing the student body; adults from every precinct of the city representing over 60 occupations and professions attend before or after employment hours.

CIVITANS TO DEDICATE NEW RECREATION HALL

Members of the Civitan club and their families will be entertained Saturday afternoon at a barbecue at Camp Civitania, Atlanta Girl Scout camp, when a recreation hall, recently completed at the camp by the Civitans, will be presented and dedicated. This occasion will take the place of the regular luncheon meeting of Tuesday, May 23.

Frank H. Neely, chairman of the Camp Civitania committee of the Civitan club, who has been chiefly instrumental in the erection of the building, will present the new structure to the scouts in the name of the Civitan club. Mrs. Lee Ashcraft, chairman of the Girl Scout camp committee and a national vice president of the organization, will accept the hall on behalf of the Atlanta Girl Scout council.

The building will be dedicated by the scouts themselves, Misses Louise Wadley, Frances Holsenbeck, and Helen Bauer having the speaking parts of the dedication ceremony. Other scouts who will have part in this ceremony include Misses Virginia Heard, Margaret Bates, Anne Wynne Fleming, Dorothy Fugitt, Edna Karmine, Mary Large, Caroline Williams, Ruth Peck, Carl Nelson, Emily Carlson, Lucile Taylor, Margaret Darrington, Edith Epstein, Louis McCoy and Josephine Newbury, all first-class and second-class scouts.

Camp Civitania will open for its third season June 20. Since the purchase of the camp site and its presentation to the Atlanta council by the Civitan club in 1924, the maintenance of the camp has been one of the major projects of the club and many of the other projects and extensions since made have been the work of the Camp Civitania committee. Both Graham Ward, Civitan president, and Harry M. T. of immediate past president, are members of the advisory board of the Girl Scout council and will be present Saturday for the exercises.

Report on Shortage in Motor Vehicle Division

Hon. Geo. M. Napier, Attorney-General,
The Capitol, Atlanta, Ga.
My dear Mr. Attorney-General:

May 21, 1927.

Regarding a shortage existing in the window department, C. A. Cook, cashier of this department, let me submit to you the facts furnished to the automobile department by Cashier Cook in the form of photographic copies of the daily reports and receipts and supporting documents filed by the cashier, in conformity with the rules of this department. Mr. Cook admits a shortage of over $8,000 in the window department.

The cashier, C. A. Cook, submitted a daily typewritten report which shows the total receipts, number of tags sold the day previous, the number of each of the individual tags. The reports of the cashier show every item of the receipts, during the day. This daily report is an acknowledgment of the cashier of the receipt by him of the money received in the window department. The shortage can be located between the 25th day of March, 1927, and the 31st day of March, 1927, and there is no other shortage provable by Mr. Cook's reports.

In order to segregate this period of six days it is necessary first to review the week preceding. The reports of the window department from March 19 through March 24 show the receipts $18,779.65, amount to bank $4,412.56, amount treasurer $14,303.09, stamps $19.00.

The reports of the cashier show a balance between the receipts and the deposits made in the bank, and the deposits made in the treasury, up to the close of business on the 24th. The following is a summarized statement of the cashier's reports for those five days:

Reports from March 19, 1927 through March 24, 1927.

Arbiter Unable to Pick Second Best Team to Play Bluebirds for Series—Orlando Series Slated for June 4-5-6.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

UNIVERSITY'S Bluebirds, 1927 prep champions locally, have acquired another pastime title with little, if any, effort.

Thursday they were declared champions of the G. I. A. A. for 1927 by H. J. Stegeman, football coach at Georgia, and the association's high commissioner. And in the middle of June they will take one enormous crack at an even bigger title, this time with much effort. The next title sought by the Bluebirds is that of southern prep baseball champs—which they won last year from Miami High. The opponents this year are the Orlando, Fla., high school pastimers.

Last Tuesday, Mr. Stegeman, in his official capacity as arbiter of the G. I. A. A., picked two teams—Riverside and University—to play for the title of the association—which is according to Hoyle and the constitution of the schoolboy loop. Ere Tuesday had passed into Wednesday, however, much befuddlement had been occasioned by the fact that the Riverside boys had all dispersed to their homes for the summer vacation and of course couldn't play the Bluebirds.

Then Wednesday, Mr. K. White, president of the G. I. A. A., instructed Stegeman to pick the next best team to play University. Mr. Stegeman took another slant at the records submitted, and Thursday told White that Riverside had been the only team to come anywhere near the record made by the Bluebirds, and if the Bluebirds were unable to play for the title then no one could be expected to keep company about it, therefore the Bluebirds were 1927 champs of the G. I. A. A. and that was that.

Anyway—

And now it has been brought to light that Orlando had already communicated with the Bluebirds about a series for the southern title before the G. I. A. A. champions were started. According to Mr. White, who is also head of the University school, whether his team defeated Riverside or not, it was going to play Orlando.

Every year, the high schools in Florida have a baseball tournament and this spring Orlando won the odds and promptly issued a challenge to the Bluebirds.

University won the local and state titles in 1926 and then took only two games to show Miami High, the odds winner that year, and how to get off, and came back to Atlanta with the emblematic of the southern schoolboy champions down at the bottom of the suitcase.

And now they are going to play for it again. Mr. White said Thursday night that the dates hadn't yet been settled upon, but that the series would probably take place on June 14, 15 and 16 in Orlando, which means another good road trip for the boys who pasture at University.

Pirates Tighten Grip on League Lead; Rixey Battered Badly.

Pittsburgh, May 26.—Pittsburgh strengthened its hold on the league pinnacle today by trouncing the world champion St. Louis club, 2 to 1, giving the Pirates eight victories in a row. This is the longest streak in the circuit this season.

Vic Aldridge held the Cardinals to three singles, while his mates collected eight off the combined offerings of Haines and Keen, the former giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. Wright doubled in the first inning, scoring Cuyler and Paul Waner, but was out at third trying to stretch the blow.

Lone American in British Amateur Tourney Defeated by H. D. Gillies.

Hoyle, Eng., May 26.—(United News.)—E. W. Haley, of New York, who popped up unexpectedly to throw a scare into British golf enthusiasts by defeating Cyril Tolley in the amateur championship, has been eliminated, to the relief of those who feared a repetition of Jess Sweetser's triumph of 1925.

H. D. Gillies, of Woking, defeated Haley at the eighteenth hole, ending the youngster's challenge for the highest honors of British amateur golf. Haley had won his round in the morning from Major Keith Thorburn, of Sunningdale, 3 and 1, and British had begun to ask themselves if another American was about to win the cup.

R. H. de Montmorency, of Stoke Poges, had defeated the expatriated American, Douglas Grant, at the twenty-first hole and Haley constituted the remaining threat from the new world. A large gallery followed the Gillies-Haley match and breathed a polite sigh of relief when the young American, a graduate of Williams college, was trapped with his second to the right of the eighteenth green. The Englishman won on his second. Haley slipped out 15 feet short of the pin and made a valiant effort to get it put down but it stopped short of the cup. Gillies put down in two putts, winning the match.

Ryder Cup Team Arrives Saturday

New York, May 26.—(United News.)—Great Britain's Ryder cup team, composed of the leading British professional golfers, arrives Saturday aboard the Aquitania.

The Britishers not only will play the cup matches against an American team headed by Walter Hagen at Worcester next week, but will participate in the national open championship at Oakmont, Pa., June 14-16.

THE BASQUE SIGNS TO MEET HARRY WILLS

New York, May 26.—(United News.)—Humbert J. Pugazy has signed Harry Wills and Paulino L'ouzon for a 15-round bout at the Polo Grounds on June 29.

The match was arranged more than a month ago, the promoter said, but was kept secret pending Pugazy's difficulties with the state athletic commission.

Now that the Basque has made his peace with the boxing union, by agreeing to go through with a bout with Ed Keeley, of Boston, he will be sent against the big negro.

Paulino has been awarded a chance to meet Jack Dempsey under Tex Rickard's management, but when it became apparent that the former champion was in no condition to fight, Senor L'ouzon was left without an opponent.

At this juncture, Pugazy has come out with the announcement that Paulino has been signed to fight Wills since April 21.

Jack Sharkey defeated the negro in the thirteenth round when Wills felled the sailor, demonstrating that Harry was a mere shell of his former self. The miserable exhibition put up by the black completely eliminated him from consideration as a heavyweight contender. Wills always believed, however, that he would be a good drawing card and it is with financial possibilities of the match in mind, rather than with any serious intentions of advancing either of the boxers, that the bout was arranged.

Paulino has defeated Tom Heenan, of New Zealand, and Kante Hansen, of Denmark, in each case winning a doubtful decision and at the end of a poor fight. The Sharkey fight was Wills' only serious effort in two years.

Turnesa Leads Metropolitan Open Golfers

Thursday's 74 Gives Him Total of 146; Johnny Farrell Second.

New Rochelle, N. Y., May 26.—(AP)—Joe Turnesa continued his steady game and came home at the head of a field of 45 qualifiers in the Metropolitan Golf association's twentieth open championship today. His 74 was not the best of the day, but with yesterday's 72 for a 146 it was just one stroke better than the second-place scores of Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge; William Burke, of Greenwich; Bobby Cruickshank, of Progress, and Willie MacFarlane, of Oak Ridge.

Scores of 159 and better were good enough to qualify and virtually all the top notches remained in the running. With fair weather for tomorrow's 36-hole finals, observers looked for a winning score around 294, which is good enough at any time, and especially good in the face of miserable weather that attended yesterday's opening round. A pelting rain continued through most of the morning, but the afternoon started walking out into the first sunshine of the championship play.

Four competitors turned in par 72 today, Johnny Farrell setting the pace and being followed by Tommy Armour, MacFarlane, Cruickshank and "Wild Bill" Mehrlan.

In prefacing our remarks let it be known that we do not intend to take issue with reputable physicians whose statements we give later, but in all honesty it must be stated that it seems to us that the younger Zbyszko took a mighty easy fall to be hurt so seriously.

Now for the expert opinions: Dr. W. A. Arnold and other reputable physicians who were in the dressing room examining Zbyszko when we arrived in company with a famous Contos gave the following statement:

"Wladek Zbyszko is suffering from concussion to the base of the brain involving the vomiting centers in the medulla."

Of one thing there is no question: Zbyszko was retching terribly when we saw him on the floor of his dressing room a few minutes after he was carried from the floor of the auditorium. His face and head were ghastly in color and gagging quelling the physicians the pupils of his eyes were dilated.

Uncontrollable.

This condition of dilated pupils, uncontrollable by the wrest, according to the doctors, and it was this condition that convinced them that Zbyszko was not assuming his injury.

The first fall in the main go came after 32 minutes and 36 seconds of concentrated grunting and went to the gentleman on a series of flying mares.

The Pole was a great menace. His superb strength and great brawn were

Challenger Takes First Fall Easily

Stanislaus Wins Baldheaded Championship Without Much Struggle—Divitchi Bows Before Paxos.

Secretary Al Martin, of the Atlanta Boxing commission, the only member of that body present after Wladek Zbyszko had been removed to a hospital following his battle with Joe Stecher for the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, instructed Matchmaker John Contos to hold the earnings of both of the contestants pending a thorough examination by physicians to determine if the Pole was actually hurt.

This Contos agreed to do, saying he "would not pay either wrestler a cent until he was convinced that Zbyszko was badly injured."

Joe Stecher, the champion, meantime offered the Pole a return match in Atlanta at any time that it could be arranged.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Joe Stecher is still just as much champion of the kingdom of grapple as he was early last evening.

Wladek Zbyszko, the giant Pole who threatened to topple the diadem from the passive brow of the champion, is somewhere in Atlanta suffering from some malady that has somewhere between acute stage fright, more acute fakits and concussion of the brain.

Stanislaus Zbyszko, his brother, declared late Thursday night that "some friends" were riding Wladek about town "getting him some fresh air." He added that the grapple would likely spend the night in a hotel.

Wladek won the first fall of the match in 32 minutes and 36 seconds by displaying greater wrestling ability than the champion and there were many who believed the diamond-studded belt was due to change hands—then came the debacle.

After some 19 minutes of struggling in the second fall Zbyszko tumbled from the ring head first and passed out and up the stairs to his dressing room, in the arms of his seconds and several helpful spectators.

From our point of vantage the fall of Zbyszko looked like a wonderfully executed neck roll and we expected to see him bounce back into the ring like a rubber ball. But he didn't bounce anywhere except to the hospital by easy stages.

Bothered, but apparently not worried by this climax to his maneuvers, Wladek reached down, grabbed a Stecher ankle in each paw, and pulled. The hardest of all the scissoring hold came loose, not by the usual method of wriggling, sweating and grunting, but by the sheer force of Zbyszko having more strength in his arms than Stecher held in his hoisted limbs.

Zbyszko Wins.

In the second match of the program Old Man Stanislaus Zbyszko won the bald-headed championship of some place from Arthur Bougatz. It took him 10 minutes and 40 seconds to clamp an effective headlock on the tannish opposition provided by genial John Contos and that section of the show was over, at least.

The opener, a 43-minute and 52-second match between John Paxos and Tony Divitchi provided plenty entertainment and action.

Paxos won after a series of flying headlocks had been placed round the Divitchi cauliflower, but in the winning the offensive was reversed many times and the boys gave them a run for the money.

Both exhibited a fine degree of skill and speed, and both kept the house continually on edge during their argument.

Crackers Beaten in Opener--Fans Riot at Birmingham

Barons Slaughter Atlanta, 15 to 2

Skipper Niehoff Uses Markle, Rogers and Martin in Vain Attempt to Quell Rambunctious Dobbmen.

BY BOB PHILLIPS, Special Correspondent.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 26.—Crushed into crumbs, like so many crackers, the Atlanta baseball club, said to be an aggregation aspiring to the eminent position in the percentage column now enjoyed by the Barons as league leaders, was swept away before an assortment of offensive elements at Rickwood Thursday afternoon by the score of 15 to 2. As a result, the Barons are now one and one-half games ahead of their neighbors from Georgia, instead of the one-half game as of record before the advent of the Atlanta.

It was the 1934 premiere here for the Crackers. They came commanding the respect of everybody interested in the Barons and their ambitions, and naturally failed, for the most part, to come up to expectations. Any ball club looks bad in defeat, although not all of them look good in victory. And so the Crackers are this morning down from the unassuming assault that the Barons made on Messrs. Cliff Markle and Tom Rogers, the pitchers who were on the slab during the home team's warring hours, but the Crackers will be up this afternoon with a fresh start and the battle again to go to the strongest.

After a single, a double and a sacrifice fly, to be brief, had put two tallies on the books for the visitors in the very first inning, Cunningham closed the door tight. Although it was opened slightly on a few occasions, just as tightly was it closed by George whenever the visiting threat grew more menacing than was comfortable. Five Crackers were retired by the stout system, each of them swinging at the third strike. Strikeouts sometimes come just like ordinary in fielding first base outs, but most of those inflicted upon the Crackers yesterday came at more useful moments. Schwab failed to start the second inning, and two were gone when Brock fouled out to first. But a poke through the box by Rogers and a bouncer that Zeller sent over Jordan's head put runners on first and third. Cuto, the Cuban who had doubled to drive Atlanta's first run, was up next, and then Cuto was down next, for he fanned the breeze.

Cunningham George.

Atlanta again suffered from Cunningham's cutting in the fifth. George passed Zeller to begin the inning and Cuto connected for single, moving his mate to second. Billy Rhee, the Sally League hitting and fielding sensation, was up and his best was a strikeout, incidentally, his second. Mike Hans succeeded in advancing the runners with a sacrifice fly, but Frank Welch fanned to retire the side.

The Crackers got two men on base in the fourth when Rogers singled after Schwab had walked, but the dual existence was very brief, for Rogers was caught, Barnes to Gillis to Rosenfield, in attempting to take second when the throw to first went to third with the idea of cutting off Schwab.

From the beginning that the Barons made in the opening inning, when they matched the Atlanta batters and made it one more, it appeared as if for more than 17 hits were going to be needed to arrive at the quota of 15 tallies. After one had gone out, Jordan doubled, but was out seeking a triple. Successive singles by Gausel, Bigelow, Yarnan and Rosie netted only three runs, and three runs off four singles and a double aren't so many. Another trio came to pass, however, in the second inning, when the

TILDEN, HUNTER AMERICA HOPE AT ST. CLOUD

St. Cloud, France, May 26.—(AP)—J. H. Tilden, of the United States, was eliminated by H. K. Lester, of England, 6-2, 6-1, 2-6, 6-8, 9-7 in the third round of the international hard-court tennis championships this afternoon. Tilden, who had won the Wimbledon title last year, was the lone American survivor.

Nicholas Mislav, of Romania, eliminated Count Ludwig Hoesgstraeten, 6-2, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, 6-2. Coming immediately after a victory in the men's singles for Otto Froitzheim, veteran German Davis cup player, the girl's victory gave the resumption of Franco-German tournament relations an auspicious start. Froitzheim defeated Carretero, of Spain, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0.

Barons made more hay off their hits. That inning saw the departure of Markle and the advent of Tom Rogers. Cunningham's pass was the first since that Markle made, and a high throw to second after fielding Barnes' bunt was the second. Jordan's sacrifice bunt the runners to second and third and both came home when Gausel smacked the ball into the corner of left field for three bases. Bigelow's single then scored Gausel with the third run of the inning.

Doubles by Baird and Gillis put the first of the right runs home and then successive sacrifices by Cunningham and Barnes sent Gillis in with a second run. The base on balls epidemic then struck. "Thomson" of the Rogers tribe. The fourth of them faced Jordan, the first of them, across the plate. A sneaker to short went for a hit. From there it was a play at second for a force-out failed and Gausel counted.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Peachtree Club Shoot.

The youthful Peachtree Gun club will forget its youth when it plays host to a young army of clay pigeon annihilators next Monday and Tuesday in a big registered shoot.

There will be good shooters and bad shooters, large shooters and small shooters on the entry list, but withal there will be a list of names that reads like a blue book of Dixie trap shooters when the first charge is fired Monday morning.

The sportsmen who follow the traps are an admirable lot. Our experience at the game is only sufficient to allow a claim of acquaintance with some of the sharks, but it doesn't take any time at all among a gang of gun powder artists to find that there is a spell of friendship pervading which is hard to find in other sections.

The nature of the game is such that participants must needs "rub elbows" almost literally in the course of competition and this may be the reason for the gripping kind of camaraderie which exists, but at any rate the thing is there and that's what counts.

Outside of this factor, if you are an "outsider" there are looking for the thrill of competition rather than the actual contact. Being in place to get a thrill than sitting behind a good trap shot and watching the pull-bang-dead performance as it should be.

There is just so much of the kid in all of us and just so much of the sportsman, and a game like trap shooting, with its sense of combat, its nerve-straining tension and its finesse of performance, tickles these senses in a most pleasing manner.

The registered shoot to be held at the Peachtree Gun club Monday and Tuesday will offer a fine opportunity for a lot of real sports fans to become addicts to the game of "pull-bang-dead," and we have it from no less an authority than President Harold McKenzie that visitors are not only welcome but urged to visit the club during the shoot.

Those Fading Dreams.

A mental picture of the rolling hills and valleys of Oakmont Country club is flashing before the eyes of more than a score of Dixie golfers and all but three of these mental photographers will find their vision crashing about their heads at East Lake on June 6 when the qualifying round for the national open is played.

It is difficult to get within hearing distance of an Atlanta golf course these days without hearing gossip about this and that local light who will match his wood and iron against the best in this section of Dixie to win a place in the greatest of all golfing events—the American open.

If it weren't for the hopes and worries of these pre-qualifying days there would be little in the open for the great majority, but just going out and then holding a post-mortem after the round furnishes enough kick for most. That is as it should be.

INDIANS, BROWNS SPLIT BILL.

St. Louis, May 26.—The Cleveland Indians and the St. Louis Browns shared honors today, each winning one game of a double header. A spectacular home run by O'Rourke in the fourth inning gave the Browns their victory in the first. Two were down when he cleared the bases.

In the second game the Indians forced about and scored three runs in the ninth by aid of a double steal, Burns going home on one of them.

Opening of Woman's Club Pool To Feature Calendar Today

Among the interesting events centering around the launching of the summer season will be the formal opening of the Deryl Sharp swimming pool of the Atlanta Woman's club. In a charming al fresco setting tea will be served at 4 o'clock to a number of the club members and their friends who will gather earlier in the afternoon for a dip in the lovely flower-bordered pool.

Visitors, brides-elect and recent brides will share honors at a number of lovely informal parties planned for the day. Mrs. Robert Goodhart, of Savannah, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. H. White, Jr., will be honor guest at the luncheon which Mrs. White will give at the Piedmont Driving club. Miss Estelle Gardner, a popular bride-elect, will be honored at two lovely parties, a luncheon at which Mrs. Homer Howard will entertain at her home in Decatur and a bridge-tee at which Mrs. J. F. Quitman and Mrs. J. B. Bunch will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Bunch. Mrs. A. M. McCurry's bridge-tee will compliment Mrs. Sidney Noble, a recent bride, who was formerly Miss Inez Willingham. Graduating and commencement exercises continue to hold the interest of the college and school contingent. Junior high class day of the North Avenue Presbyterian school will be held at 4:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's club. The glee club concert of the University School for Boys will be another school event of wide interest taking place at 5:30 o'clock this evening at Eggleston hall.

Concerts, revues, costume parties, silver teas and Tom Thumb readings are other events that will assemble interested groups.

Miss Winn Weds Winston Paul.

Pat H. Winn, of Lithia Springs, Ga., announces the marriage of his daughter, Anna Mozley, to Winston Paul, Tuesday, May 24, at Madison, Ga. Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family, the wedding was solemnized in the presence of the family and close friends. Mrs. Paul is the daughter of Pat H. Winn, of Lithia Springs, and the late Mrs. Mary Richardson Winn.

Spiker Players To Give Revue.

Much interest is being manifested in the revival to be given by the Spiker Players at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium Thursday evening, June 2. Mrs. Potter-Spiker

Commencement Exercises Are Held at Brenau College

Gainesville, Ga., May 26.—At the 49th annual commencement held at Brenau college, the Hon. John T. Boileau delivered the address preceding the conferring of the degrees. Dr. H. J. Pearce, president of Brenau, introduced the speaker.

Following this address, Dr. H. J. Pearce conferred the degrees upon the seniors and presented to them their diplomas.

Those receiving the bachelor of arts degree were Misses Alina Adams, Effie Arnett, Karlene Ashford, Frances Lillian Bates, Bertha Bowen, Bertha Loomis Bridges, Mary Carter, Christine Cheek, Henrietta Clarke, Ruth Fain, Ruth Fraser, Margaret Guthrie, Grace Hays, Frances Harvey, Caroline Haddad, Mary Lucia Haselton, Sarah Glenn Hearn, Margaret Henry, Florence Hobgood, Marion Hootkins, Maudie Hudson, Alice Inez Hutcheson, Frances Kobb Johnson, Kate Josephine Lilly, Maudie Fiske La Fleur, Gladys Mahin, Irene Maser, Marjorie McElrath, Norma McLeod, Mary Peck, Delphine Pfeiffer, Isabella Poer, Emily Robertson, Zella Mae Strickland, Lela Bond Tomkins, Carolyn Vann, Willy Mae Wolf, Allen Helen Wolf.

Those receiving the bachelor of music degree were Anne Adel Adams, Frances Mills Chandler, Vernon Doring, Mary Elizabeth Folt, Claude Mae McCain, Loretta McDaniel, Delphine Pfeiffer, Alice Roland, Dorothy Thurmond, Beverly Wood. The bachelor of oratory degree was given to Evelyn Fritz, Elsie Paulsen Kuck, Mary Jina Oliver, Mara Sanford. A diploma in voice was given to Margaret McArthur. Diplomas in art were given to Elizabeth Lell and Evelyn Spann. Diplomas in oratory were given to Junette Collier, Martha Julia Hurst, Marie Harris, Anne Howell, Sue Marie Wilds. A certificate in piano was given to Elizabeth Folt. Certificates in fine arts were given to Norma Doring, Frances McRae and Alice Roland.

The commencement exercises started with the baccalaureate service in the auditorium. Studies at 11 o'clock, at which time Rev. James William Lanch, D. D., of North Carolina, delivered the sermon.

Monday morning an interclass swimming meet was held and during the day both the domestic art and the art departments held open house for the visitors and students to inspect the work done during the year by the department. The most interesting feature of the day was the play "Bitter Fruit," by Frances Thomas put on by the senior class in the school of oratory.

Class day exercises were held at the "Crown's Nest" in the tree sacred to the seniors at 4 o'clock Tuesday. The freshmen class, the sophomore class bearing the ivy wreath, and the junior class, carrying the daisy chain, entered in white, marched from the buildings and formed semi-circles around the "Crown's Nest."

The senior class poem was read by Miss Isabelle Peck of West Point. Then came the gifts to the seniors from the juniors, presented by Miss Elizabeth King of Cuthbert, Ga. At 6 o'clock Tuesday the alumnae banquet for the new and old alumnae, the visitors, the board of trustees, and the faculty was given in the Brenau dining room. Mrs. Sidney O. Smith, active member of the Gainesville alumnae, was toastmistress.

Following the banquet was the annual Brenau grand concert put on by the students of the conservatory. Those taking part in the interesting program were Elizabeth Folt, Edna Hess, Catherine Smith, Miriam Varnedoe, Eliza Holmes, Dorothy McDonald, Mildred Oldham, Bertha Thalley, Augusta Slivers, Muriel Carrier, Alice Roland, Dorothy Armstrong, Marguerite Gallier, Dorothy Thurmond and Una Connelley.

Mrs. Willott Will Present Pupils.

Saturday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Preston Willott will present a group of children in dramatic and dance interpretations. "The Children's Hour," a fantasy taken from Longfellow's poem, is the vehicle in which these performers will appear.

The play offers wonderful opportunity for a display of dramatic, pantomime and dancing ability and the costumes worn are attractive and quaint.

A small admission will be charged and the Clara Henrich memorial is the beneficiary. The public is invited.

For Instant Refreshment When You're All Tired Out

We Americans work too hard. We go too fast. What with business duties, social obligations, family responsibilities, long journeys and short trips at breakneck speed, our minds are weary, our bodies fatigued, our nerves "all on edge."

We are in constant need of cheer, comfort, relaxation, refreshment—and the best way to get it is by stopping for a few minutes, when we're all tagged out, for a steaming cupful of RIDGWAYS fragrant, full-bodied, invigorating tea.

Try it! In two minutes you'll feel like a new person. You'll be revived, comforted, and suffused with a delicious sense of well-being. You'll feel as if you had had a soothing bath of deep, fragrant warmth, with all the after-invigoration of a fine cold shower. You'll feel wonderfully fit—and all ready for another session of hard work or hard play. Only be sure to remember this—Get the full benefit of your cup of tea. Get the world-famous flavor and refreshing goodness in our three perfect blends of RIDGWAYS TEAS.

"The First Thing You Think of"—RIDGWAYS TEAS

THREE perfect blends to meet all demands.

RIDGWAYS "Her Majesty's Blend"—originally blended for the special and private use of Queen Victoria of Great Britain.

RIDGWAYS "Gold Label" 100% Genuine Orange Pekoe Tea—The connoisseur's favorite—a blend of the world's finest flowery Orange Pekoe teas.

RIDGWAYS "Orange Label" Tea—a fine, mild India-Ceylon tea—the most popular blend in the United States.—(adv.)

Miss DuPre To Wed John F. Satterlee.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of John Franklin Satterlee, of Columbia, S. C., to Miss Helen DuPre.

Miss Satterlee is the son of the late Captain Booth Satterlee, West Point graduate, U. S. army sixth regiment coast artillery. Captain Satterlee was detailed assistant adjutant general of Georgia, with headquarters in Atlanta, and served the militia as such for four years.

The groom-elect is the grandson of the late Bishop Ellison Capers, of the diocese of South Carolina. The marriage will take place Wednesday afternoon, June 8, at St. James Episcopal church, McClellanville, S. C.

Peachtree Garden Club Group Will Attend Annual Meeting

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, president of the Peachtree Garden club, and Mrs. Edgar P. McBurney, who has been appointed delegate to the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America, will attend the sessions to be held in the Westchester Biltmore Country club, beginning June 14 and continuing through June 17, with Greenwich Ridgefield and New Canaan, Conn., and Rye and Bedford, N. Y., as hostess organizations.

Mrs. Malcolm Fleming, conservation chairman, and Mrs. William P. Hill, flower show chairman for the Peachtree Garden club, will also attend the meeting.

Will Entertain 1,500.

The hostess clubs plan to entertain 1,500 guests representing every state in the Union, with luncheon served for this number at the Westchester Biltmore Country club, the first day, following registration. The reports of the committees of the Garden Club of America will be read and the members will learn at first-hand what has been accomplished during the year.

Those enjoying the hospitality of hostesses residing in Rye, Bedford, Greenwich, Ridgefield or New Canaan will visit the gardens in that vicinity with tea served by the hostesses. Long distances, narrow roads and divided localities have been overcome by dividing the visitors into five groups, and each main group into two, in order that everyone will be given the assurance of visiting every outstanding garden in the five cities, and follow the schedule of arrangements which has been carefully planned by the hostess clubs. Every pitfall that would bring confusion has been thought out with a great deal of care by the committee serving for the annual meeting.

Object of Garden Club. The object of the Garden Club of America is to stimulate the knowledge and love of gardening among amateurs; to share the advantages of association, through conference and correspondence in this country and abroad; to aid in the protection of native plants and birds, and to encourage civic planting.

Women's Hygienic Habits

being greatly changed—new way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

OLD-TIME "sanitary pads" are rapidly disappearing because of a new way called Kotex, that 8 in 10 better-class women now employ. Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without slightest fear. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt. And it deodorizes; thus ending all fear of offense.

Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "Kotex."

Try today and you'll never again risk the uncertainty of old ways. Box contains 12. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

KOTEX No laundry—discard like tissue

Young Violinist Charms Audience With Playing

Before an enthusiastic audience at the Woman's club auditorium last night, James de la Fuente, 13-year-old Atlanta violinist, demonstrated to the satisfaction of those present that he has the qualifications necessary to bid for musical fame.

Standing before his audience with the assurance that is the possession of great artists, and playing that amazing Twenty-third Concerto, by Giovanni Viotti, with a brilliance of technique that was dazzling and a beauty of tone unmatched, he won his audience completely with the opening number. Then followed that gem of violin compositions, and the envy of anxious violinists, the G Minor Sonata, by G. Tartini, a score that requires finger and bow dexterity of a high order, and one that is a wonder of tone and difficult phrasing. In this the youngster again demonstrated his sterling artistry.

After the Tartini Sonata came a beautiful rendition of the ever-popular Adoration, by Borowski, following which that sterling Atlanta artist, and the piano accompanist for the evening, Alton O'Steen, treated the audience to a brilliant rendition of Chopin's Etude, Opus 10, No. 3, and Claude Debussy's famous Danse.

Young de la Fuente reappeared and rendered brilliantly the difficult and tuneful Seventh Concerto, by de Beriot, after which came the encore, Cavatina, ordered as only an artist can render a violin favorite, the haunting beauty of which goes home to the heart strings.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. G. Bingham Bache, director of the Junior Music club, presented James with a gold medal in behalf of the music clubs of the state of Georgia, and naming him champion violinist of Georgia.

HELP FOR SICK WOMEN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Restored the Health of Thousands

Brooklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 228 Schaeffer St., was in a run-down condition and could not do her housework. She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got relief." Mrs. Hegmann also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation, with good results. She says, "I am recommending your medicines to all I know who have symptoms the same as mine, and to others whom I think it will help. You may use my statement as a testimonial, and I will answer any letters sent to me by women who would like information regarding your medicines."

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

Official Vote Figures Show New Charter Beaten By 7,908 to 4,623 Ballots

Everett Millican, Winner
in Aldermanic Race
Weds on Day of His Political Triumph.

Consolidated figures in the special city manager election held Wednesday night, showed that the new charter, which was defeated by a vote of 7,908 to 4,623, was carried by four wards, the first, fourth, eighth and ninth, while the remaining wards were carried by the old charter.

In addition to winning the nomination for alderman from the tenth ward, Mr. Millican got one other vote and at the close of his political career was married Wednesday night to Miss Beatrice Jones, of 1362 Sylvan road, N. E. and his bride left immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by Dr. Will H. Houghton, of the Baptist Tabernacle, for a short honeymoon at Tampa. They will reside at 840 Hill avenue on their return to the city.

Consolidation also showed the following results of contests in the primary:

Carried Four Wards.

Seventy of consolidated figures also showed that the new charter forces carried four wards, the first, fourth, eighth and ninth, while the remaining wards were carried by the old charter.

In addition to winning the nomination for alderman from the tenth ward, Mr. Millican got one other vote and at the close of his political career was married Wednesday night to Miss Beatrice Jones, of 1362 Sylvan road, N. E. and his bride left immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by Dr. Will H. Houghton, of the Baptist Tabernacle, for a short honeymoon at Tampa. They will reside at 840 Hill avenue on their return to the city.

Consolidation also showed the following results of contests in the primary:

Council Results.

First Ward—Councilman Turner defeated Carl G. Allen, 413 to 194. Fifth, Councilman Barrett defeated Dr. William C. Barrett, 660 to 234. Eighth, Councilman Jones defeated Hoke O'Kelley, 745 to 246. Ninth, Councilman DeLoach defeated Homer C. Foster, 778 to 465, while Lyle of the seventh, who figured in the only close contest, polled 184 votes against 213 for O. P. Walton, and 182 for Earl M. Carman, according to the official figures.

Four members of the board of education were nominated without opposition, J. W. Moxley, of the fifth, and Mrs. John C. Nelson, of the sixth, being named to succeed themselves, while Dr. McIntosh, M. Burns was nominated to succeed Dr. M. Threlkeld, of the seventh, and John T. Hancock was nominated to succeed Dr. Hoffman, of the eighth. Neither Mr. Threlkeld nor Mr. Hoffman offered for reelection.

H. P. Denton, P. Derrington, J. C. Kilgore and A. P. Wall were nominated members of the city democratic

'The Awakening' Bars Outsiders From Rehearsals

After more than 2,000 persons had crowded into the auditorium on both Wednesday and Thursday nights to witness rehearsals for "The Awakening," Director James H. Hall issued a strict order barring the public from the two remaining rehearsals. "The Awakening," a stirring drama of the south during the days following the war between the states, will be presented at the Atlanta theater all next week to raise funds to send members of the United Confederate Veterans to the annual reunion this year.

Tickets for the spectacle, which in addition to the dramatic scenes, presents a beautiful musical extravaganza, with more than 500 Atlanta in the cast, went on sale at the Atlanta theater box office Thursday morning.

It was announced Thursday that ten vaudeville acts, presenting practically all of Atlanta's best known talent, have been accepted for the following is the complete list of special acts in the order of their appearance: Little Virginia Lee Cop, in an original song and dance number; Mrs. Roberta Welch, soloist, singing old-time melodies; the Wagner brothers, aged nine and seven, dancing; one Gollard, musical entertainer; K. A. Kahlo in a Hawaiian act; Towhee Dunbar in a song and dance act; Roberta Astin in Charleston and black-bottom dances; the dancing team, Leavens and Harris; Ann Faulkner in a black bottom number; and Louise Hulse, musical dancer.

After finishing his secondary education he entered the Atlanta law school, of which is a graduate.

FORMER CONFIDANTE ASSAILS KING BEN

St. Joseph, Mich., May 26.—(AP)—Either Johnson Hansel, former confidante and favorite of King Benjamin Purnell, was placed on the witness stand today as the first of the state's star witnesses in its reversion suit against the House of David colony.

Mrs. Hansel's appearance eliminated a day of sensational charges against the aged cult leader, Dolly Wheeler, of New York, a former inmate of the colony, testified Purnell kept an inner circle of from 30 to 40 girls in Shiloh, the leader's temple house. Mrs. Wheeler's father, William E. Smith, a former preacher for the colony, asserted he deserted the organization when his daughter confessed to her relations with Benjamin.

Mrs. Hansel was barely started on the story of her life in the colony when court adjourned.

Questioned by George Nichols, chief state's attorney, as to what the teachings of the colony were, she read from the "Book of Elements," purporting to be extracts from Purnell's sermons. "Benjamin is everything to those in the faith, even more than Jesus Christ is to the Gentiles," she quoted.

"Will you forsake all for the seventh husband?" she asked.

The witness asserted Benjamin was described and looked upon in the colony as the high priest of the Israelites. She said she had seen the state's second child of the colony, brother of Jesus, Gabriel and many other titles.

FORT LAND BETTER AFTER COLLAPSE IN CARROLLTON

Fort E. Land, state superintendent of schools, who was taken to Wesley Memorial hospital Wednesday night following a collapse Monday night after speaking at the closing exercises in Carrollton high school, was reported to be considerably better Thursday night.

Mr. Land delivered the annual Memorial hospital Wednesday night in a serious condition in a Carrollton hotel. He was removed to Wesley Memorial hospital Thursday night in a private ambulance.

Legion Meets Today For Decoration Day Celebration Plans

Atlanta Post of the American Legion will meet at the Henry Grady hotel today to prepare for observance of the annual decoration day Monday and arrange preliminary details for the observance of Savannah at the department convention June 22-24.

Count Boyer, chairman in charge of the luncheon program, announced Thursday night that Mrs. Ben Cunningham, former teacher in Korean mission schools, will present a Korean program.

Membership of the post was reported at 1,300 Thursday, the largest in the history of the American Legion in Georgia, entitling the post to 52 delegates to the state department convention.

JUDGE PATTERSON TO HAVE OPERATION

Judge T. E. Patterson, member of the state prison commission, who was removed to St. Joseph, Indiana, two weeks ago when he was taken suddenly ill, was said by attendants in charge to be resting comfortably at a late hour Thursday night. Judge Patterson will undergo a critical operation today if his condition allows, according to attendants.

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED OF $8 BY PASSENGER

A. V. Jones, taxi driver of College Park, was held up, robbed of $8 in cash and forced to stand by while the bandit drove away in his taxicab early Thursday morning. Police were according to a report filed at police station. The passenger was picked up on Edgewood avenue and told Jones to drive to a house on Woodville road. Immediately after the passenger got out, supposedly to pay the fare, he commanded Jones to "stick 'em up," and got out of the cab. Police later recovered the abandoned taxicab, not far from the scene of the robbery.

MARIETTA ARTIST EXHIBITING HERE

One of the features of the exhibition of the work of Mrs. King Cooper, of Marietta, which opened Thursday afternoon at the High Museum of Art on Peachtree road is "The Spirit of the Confederacy," a portrait of General J. Calton Lynes, inspector general of the United Confederate Veterans.

Mrs. Cooper, who held an exhibition in Atlanta three years ago, is a talented southern painter. Her paintings have been shown in New York and Philadelphia.

The present exhibition, which will continue through this week and next, contains 38 canvases.

Erlanger.

"Mrs. Dane's Defense"—Never has a play received more favorable comment than the one being presented at the Erlanger theater this week—"Mrs. Dane's Defense," a story which calls for expert acting to carry it off properly. "The Girl in the Red Dress," offering, "The Girl in the Red Dress," has been completed, and from all appearances the play will be another big success. Seats for the coming performance of "Mrs. Dane's Defense," as well as for next week's offerings, are now on sale at the theater box office and at M. Rich & Bros. Co. store.

Rialto.

"Rialto"—Elinor Glyn's newest screen success which has scored a great triumph at the Rialto this week, according to Manager W. T. Murray and all those who have seen it, has only two more days to run this week. "The Girl in the Red Dress," the current offering, is called "Love at First Sight," a story of a girl and a girl in perfectly ludicrous antics, but very funny.

Forsyth.

"White Cargo"—As the week swings into its last few days, crowds continue to flock to the Forsyth theater for Earl Carroll's great sex drama—starring Dick Stevenson, J. H. Dwyer, Larry Kent, Fred Forbes, Fred Raymond and others of the cast. This great production is a veritable maze of mystery until the last curtain is drawn. It reveals a plot involving a native girl in an African colony.

Keith's Georgia.

Vaudeville and Pictures—Edith Cantor and her comedy antics as shown in the film, "Special Delivery," "The Girl in the Red Dress," and "The Girl in the Red Dress," where it is being featured this week. Cantor is seen as postman delivering the mail and the troupe of the trials of such a job are clearly shown with a great many laughs besides. Five Keith vaudeville acts are shown on the fourth floor in conjunction with the screen features.

Coming to Georgia.

Ned Wayburn, who has directed several hundred Broadway musical shows and is now presenting the "Variety Show," which comes to Keith's Georgia theater this week, has started a new dance on its rounds with his latest production, Wayburn also is the recipient of such credit and commendation as to be the author of the "Black Bottom." One of the principal "hits" of his new company is introduced by song and appears as a new dance, which is yet unnamed and for which a prize is offered for the best title. For want of a better name it has been called "Savannah Bottom." Wayburn is responsible for the statement that "it is distinctively a new dance embodying the joyous abandon of the southern negroes and the grace of the white girl, and the banks of the river to rest their tired feet in the cool of the water. Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

INSTALLMENT XII. BURGLARY.

Alan himself wasn't ready to go away. He expected another small sum of money by the morning post from his Paris agent. He needed all the money he could get, and even small sums were not to be despised. But then there was the horrid fact staring Sophy in the face of Piers having left the casino. Who would have imagined such a thing?

Well, Alan could. "It's nearly 2 o'clock," he said soberly. "I hadn't any idea it was so late."

Nor had Sophy. She gave a faint shriek of dismay. "But where has the time gone to?" she wailed. "O, come, Alan, we must hurry. I know where that rope ladder is, and you can help me get over the wall. I expect Mr. Mopet knew I'd be so with you. I wonder if Lalla will be cross?"

Her imagination pictured all sorts of possibilities connected with Piers. She had left the front door unlatched, for one thing, and he might remember that it hadn't been left that way by him. He might go to her bedroom and discover she wasn't there. She even visualized him lying in wait at that particular spot by the garden wall.

It had to be faced, however, and it was really no worse than what they counted upon as possibly happening. Suddenly, that Piers might have seen and recognized her at the casino, in which case it was to be laughed off as a lark.

But with the guilt of tomorrow night's plans heavy on her mind Sophy was scarcely in a mood to carry off any lesser situation with hardihood. Alan did his best to infuse some courage into her as they drove up the hill in the old fiacre, the only vehicle he could find to transport them.

At the bottom of the garden they dismissed the cab and felt their way in the midnight shadows up the mile path until they reached the spot where Sophy thought Willie Mopet had left the rope ladder.

She hadn't paid much attention, but it seemed to her that he had coiled it up and left it close to the wall at this point, or at least near by. But Alan and she hunted in vain, although perhaps they could not be very thorough about the search, since Alan had only two matches, and one of them blew out when he struck it. No, the ladder was not there, and consequently there was precious little romance left about the predicament, in Sophy's opinion.

The only thing to do was to try to get her over the wall without the ladder, and finally—after a long struggle—this was accomplished, but not without much trepidation lest Sophy, in jumping down, should turn an ankle or otherwise injure herself. But she escaped with only a few scratches and some hurt to dignity, since she landed on an ash heap and it was nowhere near the spot from which she had started.

She whispered a shaky "All right," and then Alan heard her move away from the wall, and presently the light sound of her footsteps died away. There was nothing more for him to do except go back to his own home and try to assure himself that Sophy would be, as she said, all right.

Well, at least she was back in the locked garden. Cautiously she picked herself out of the cinders and reconnoitered for the path. It wasn't so difficult because, although everything was pitch black, the huge bulk of the reservoir tank was a shade blacker, and finally she located that and the path behind the kitchen premises.

Was Piers in his room and asleep? O, he must be! There wasn't a single light in the whole house, and if Piers had discovered her absence the place would have been in an uproar. No—on second thought—perhaps he had discovered it and was lurking in wait for her. Perhaps he would jump out from behind some piece of scrubbery or clutch her as she entered the house. Her nerves were drawn taut as she crept and crept, making scarcely a sound.

Piers' windows—darkness there. Her own? Not a single light. . . but suddenly she stopped dead, and her breath came in choking whistles. No light, but that strange, pallid flicker—seen for a brief second, then gone—was like the ghost of one. Perhaps it was a moth fluttering about the balcony. She waited and watched a moment longer.

Ah, there it was again, the mere ghost of a light, a will-o-the-wisp, one might believe.

Instantly common sense told Sophy that someone was moving about in her bedroom, flashing an electric torch, and it never occurred to her that it could be anyone but Piers. She knew he kept a torch by his bedside, as well as a loaded revolver. At this moment was he prowling with the revolver in one hand—looking for what?

For her? Or she would hide—somewhere, anywhere, until the friendly dawn arrived. That was the counsel of caution, but in spite of it the house drew and fascinated her—the consciousness of safety. Hadn't she told Alan—when it was true—that Piers was the fate she had bound about her neck and would be her undoing in the end? Who ever escape his fate? Can you or I, or anyone? Isn't it just there, coming, coming, slow but relentless? This deadly trap called life!

And as although the impulse to hide and dodge the trap was strong, as the will to live is strong, Sophy was in the grip of something even more powerful. She crept on, and, as though in continuation of all her fears the front door was not merely unlatched but stood invitingly open, welcoming her to a black maze of an interior relieved but dimly by the gray gleam of the marble staircase.

At last the darkness itself became unendurable, and, fumbling along the wall, Sophy's hand found the electric switch.

O, blessed relief when everything sprang into view, everything just ordinary and normal to the very clock ticking away solemnly at the end of the corridor.

But instantly Sophy knew that she had stirred something. There came a sharp, shrill whistle from the direction of the pergola, and the muffled sound of muffled footsteps along an upstairs corridor, followed by a little grating noise, as of a window being raised and lowered.

Sophy fled like a rat and ran toward the basement stairs, calling loudly for Lucia and Agnes and Strossen. The latter, who was the butler, was the only man servant who slept in the house. One by one they appeared, as well as the other two maids, in various stages of attire, with the exception of Strossen, who delayed his arrival until he was more or less attired.

Then it became immediately apparent that Sophy's homelcoming had interrupted a burglary, and Piers was not here at all.

In the confusion Sophy slipped a pair of satin pajamas designed for her, while her maid took hurried stock of the disordered bedroom. Sophy's jewels were all intact in the safe, although the lock had been tampered with, and obviously by an amateur. Some money and small trinkets were missing both from her room and from Piers', and silver was found packed in a coarse canvas bag in the dining room.

Should they send for the police, or wait until Mr. Tancred came home? Surely he wouldn't be long now, for by this time the fiesta must be over. Yes, the servants knew he had gone to the casino, for some of them had been there amongst the crowd outside and seen him; although they kept it carefully hidden, from poor little Mrs. Tancred that she had seen him in the company of a foreign shogun. Even Agnes did not know that Sophy herself was at the casino and knew quite as much about Piers and his company as they did.
